ALLEGED JAPANESE FLIGHT OVER SIBERIA

TEXAS GUINAN'S TRAGIC END

DEFIANT TO THE LAST

A COLOURFUL HISTORY

Vancouver, Wash., Nov. 5. Texas Guinan, New York's famous Night Club Queen, died in hospital here to-day, after an operation.

She died as she lived, carefree and defiant.

"A speedy funeral" was her last request.

She said she wanted a "motor police escort and a bunch of college boys singing loudly while the coffin was being put into the hole, with Uncle Sam's 'Dripping Dry Boys' (Prohibition Agents) and big Butter-and-Egg Men (pro-filters) and suckers in attendance.

Her last words were her famous remark of welcome: "Give the little girl a great big hand."

COLOURFUL CAREER.

In her colourful career, Texas Guinan was in turn a cow-girl, a circus rider, an actress and a night club proprietress.

She was born on a ranch in Texas and was brought up among cowboys. Accustomed to riding every kind of horse from childhood she became when 16 a bare-back rider in a circus. Then she was an actress and later ran a night club in New York. She had just the qualifications needed—unbounded self-confidence and courage, an air of breezy gaiety, an unlimited capacity for talking and a gift for organisation. Soon there were two or three clubs under her control and she had her own troupe of girl dancers and singers.

RIDING IN STATE.

With a highly developed sense of advertisement, she would ride through the city in state on her favourite horse, dressed in a brilliant costume which included a sombrero, an open-necked shirt and white cowboy trousers. On such occasions she acted as mounted escort to a motorcoach load of her cabaret girls—her "kids", as she called them. She never tasted alcoholic liquor herself, but she provided it for her "guests" which led to trouble with the authorities. On one occasion when Prohibition agents paid a surprise visit to one of her clubs after she had gone to bed she got through a trap-door in her pyjamas and led them a long chase over the roofs before she was captured.

BARRED IN ENGLAND.

In 1931 she resolved that her fame should extend to Europe and, shipping 16 of her "beautiful kids" (a phrase rendered literally in the French papers as "beautiful young goats") with a band, two comedians, a maître d'hôtel and her white horse, she left for London and Paris.

She was, however, prohibited from landing in England. At Havre she found a similar bar regarding France. She and her company were detained for some

VLADIVOSTOCK COMPLAINT

SENSATIONAL ARTICLE BY M. TROTSKY

RUSSO-JAPANESE WAR THREAT

TEN JAPANESE MILITARY PLANES FLEW TWENTY MILES INTO SOVIET TERRITORY ON FRIDAY, ACCORDING TO A MESSAGE FROM VLADIVOSTOCK.

Reuter's Riga correspondent says that a very sharp Soviet protest against this violation of Soviet territory is expected.

In the meantime, the tension between Soviet Russia and Japan is the subject of a sensational article contributed by M. Leon Trotsky, the ex-Communist leader, to L'Œuvre.

Japan, says M. Trotsky, must expect war against both the Soviet and the United States.

Commenting on the probable outcome of a conflict between Russia and Japan, he says that conditions in both countries have changed to a remarkable extent since the Russo-Japanese war.

The Soviet has been re-born since the Revolution, while Japan has been feudally exploited by her militarists.

FEEBLE CONDITION.

M. Trotsky concludes his article by citing statistics to show that Japan is in a feeble condition compared with the Soviet and with the United States.

He therefore concludes that it should be hoped that the Japanese militarists will decide against tempting destiny.—Reuter.

JAPANESE STATEMENT.

Tokyo, Nov. 6. The War Office denies knowledge of the alleged flight of Japanese aeroplanes over Soviet territory.

Nothing is known about the alleged incident in Tokyo beyond the Tass report from Moscow.—Reuter.

LORRY WRECKED

ANOTHER MISHAP IN BANK DEMOLITION

One of the huge pillars which graced the entrance of the old premises of the Bank, wrecked a new Ford lorry belonging to the Yee Sang Tai Firm yesterday.

The lorry was stationary in Wardley Street.

A huge pillar consisting of a number of cylindrical pieces of granite held together by cement, was being lifted by a crane when a portion of it fell and dropped upon the lorry at a point near the driver's seat, almost cutting the vehicle into two.

Fortunately there was no one in or near the lorry at the time.

Owing to the unsettled weather, the International Pageant arranged by St. Andrew's Church, will be held in the Church Hall this evening and not on the tennis court as previously announced. The Pageant, which was shown twice on Saturday is being repeated to-night to give those who missed seeing it an opportunity of attending.

With this highly controversial question impending the League commission has a difficult task in keeping the peace, particularly in view of the new aggressiveness of the Nazis.

She was, however, prohibited from landing in England. At Havre she found a similar bar regarding France. She and her company were detained for some

SHAKE-UP IN ITALY

GENERAL BALBO TO RESIGN

STRONG RUMOURS PERSIST

Rome, Nov. 5. Strong rumours are in circulation that the King will to-morrow accept the resignation of General Balbo, the Minister for Air.

It has, however, been impossible to obtain confirmation of the rumour which has been gaining strength daily, despite one official statement that it is merely a repetition of a rumour circulated some time ago.

It is, however, firmly believed in normally well-informed quarters that a Cabinet shake-up is to be expected shortly.

It is said that Signor Mussolini intends to combine the War Office, Air Minister and Naval Department into a Ministry of National Defence, combining the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, and that Signor Mussolini will himself take charge of the Ministry.

This would necessitate the resignation of Admiral Siriani, of the Navy Office, as well as General Balbo.—Reuter.

OUTBREAK FEARED IN SAAR

REPRESSION DECREE ISSUED

Saarbrücken, Nov. 3. The League of Nations commission governing the Saar basin has issued a repression decree due to Nazi demands for the return of the basin to Germany.

The population was so inflamed by developments that French authorities fear an outbreak which will cause trouble between France and Germany.

The decree included an increase in prison fines for carrying arms, and restricted the display of flags and political activities.

The Saar basin is to hold a plebiscite in 1936 to determine whether it will continue in its present status under the League, revert to Germany or go to France.

With this highly controversial question impending the League commission has a difficult task in keeping the peace, particularly in view of the new aggressiveness of the Nazis.

She was, however, prohibited from landing in England. At Havre she found a similar bar regarding France. She and her company were detained for some

TYphoon's TOLL

HEAVY DAMAGE IN ANNAM

THIRTY KILLED

Paris, Nov. 5.

It is learned from Hanoi that the typhoon which swept in rapidly from the Pacific, across the Philippines and into the Gulf of Tongking, struck the coast of Annam with extreme violence.

Considerable damage has been done and (says Reuter) thirty deaths have to be included in its toll.

Another story of devastation by the typhoon comes from Palawan, where extensive damage was done.

A devastating flood followed in the wake of the storm, sweeping through the Iwahig penal colony.

One prisoner, C. A. Faustino, was drowned in the flood. The typhoon and flood wrought havoc to buildings and crops. A telegraphic report on the damage caused by the typhoon was sent to the director of prisons by Captain E. Misa, superintendent of Iwahig penal colony.

SIX FEET OF WATER.

The typhoon destroyed lines of communications, he reported, resulting in lack of reports from points inland. Exhibits in the carnival were among the articles washed away by the flood. The water rose at points to a height of six feet, destroying houses and large bridges.

The entire colony is now busy removing the debris left by the flood. Heavy loss of life, including women and children, was averted through the heroic efforts of employees and colonists. The water supply system was destroyed as well as thousands of coconut trees.

Captain Misa's report to the director of prisons reads as follows: "A devastating flood swept over the colony. Twenty kilometres of the provincial road, five large bridges, the Bacayo oil soap factories, the water supply system and numerous concrete and dirt levees were destroyed. Communications were interrupted, and reports are incomplete."

HEAVY DAMAGE.

"Thousands of coconut trees, banana plants, bangua trees, hundreds of fruit trees, cubos, privately owned domestic animals, portion of the palay crop, copra and some government equipment and supplies were lost."

"Quinina was under six feet of water. Logs, lumber, furniture and articles in the carnival exhibits were washed away."

"The Zabat family moved from their residence by launch. Heavy toll in life, women and children, was averted through the heroic efforts of employees and colonists."

"All lines of communication in Bohol, except those in Tagbilaran, are down, as are all lines in Oriental Negros save those in its capital, Capiz and Bukidnon also reported heavy destruction to property and communications."

TYphoon Signal Hoisted

Sudden Development Near Colony?

No. 1 typhoon signal was hoisted shortly after ten o'clock this morning.

Strong gusty weather had been prevailing since the early hours of this morning.

The weather suggests the sudden development of a disturbance close to the Colony. No previous reports had been received.

JAPANESE PRINCESS PASSES AWAY

Tokyo Court in Mourning

Tokyo, Nov. 3.

Princess Nobuko Asaka, aunt of Emperor Hirohito, died early today.

She married Prince Asaka May 9, 1910.

The Emperor and his family went into a 20-day period of mourning.

To-day's state banquet was cancelled while ritualists performed the Washido Dokoro ceremonies.

Emperor Hirohito will remain in seclusion.

H.M.S. Wild Swan sails for Shanghai on Friday, and H.M.S. Medway and Small Ships are due in the Colony from the north on Thursday.

Dr. R. A. de Castro Basto, M.D., D.O.M.S., the well-known Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat specialist, accompanied by Madame Basto, returned to the Colony on Saturday by the M.V. Conte Verde.

No news from Inagawan and distant outstations."

PUBLIC WORKS HIT

The typhoon wrought extensive damage to property, houses, public works and crops in the Visayas. One person was killed in Panglao, Bohol.

The governor of Bohol reported that 19 houses in the town of Panglao alone were completely destroyed by the storm and at least 20 others were partially destroyed.

The Mamboja wharf in Oriental Negros and the shed under construction there were badly damaged. Many sections of the provincial roads were washed away, rendering the roads impassable in many places throughout the province.

All lines of communication in Bohol, except those in Tagbilaran, are down, as are all lines in Oriental Negros save those in its capital, Capiz and Bukidnon also reported heavy destruction to property and communications.

Seven were killed, including two women and two children when a plane crashed into a house at Shrewsbury, N.J., setting the place on fire.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

A Setting to Whet Lagging Appetites

Nothing whets lagging appetites so much as food served out of doors. When your family refuses to eat these hot days, try serving a few al fresco meals.

Have simple furniture that won't get ruined by rain. Don't take your very best china and line out into the yard for picnic meals. Tablecloths of some oilcloth variety are best. They won't show spots and they save laundry. You simply wipe them off with a damp cloth.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

There is much to be said in favour of lines on the face of a woman over thirty five. And much to be said against them if she is younger.

Lines and wrinkles naturally come with maturity and it is practically impossible to prevent all of them. Nor would you want to. A few lines on the face of an older woman add a lot of character and interest to her face. Some of the most beautiful older women in the world have many fine laugh lines around their eyes and the inevitable vertical lines around their mouths. One cannot imagine them being beautiful without those lines.

But when it comes to the younger girl, lines and wrinkles are an entirely different matter. You should take steps to prevent them while your skin is still firm and young.

There are nourishing creams for the dry skin. Dryness is one of the most prevalent causes of premature lines.

Why not shop around a bit for reliable nourishing and tissue creams? When you find one, plan to use it every night after you have cleaned your face. Leave it on all night occasionally.

Don't overlook the importance of muscle oils for the lines around your eyes. The oil should be warmed slightly, patted on the spots where lines may appear and left on all night.

Our Chic twins

Velvet ribbon, in a

SIMPLICITY and charm, as usual, distinguish this presentation of the Chic twins. Perhaps you would prefer this model in a pastel shade of diaphanous chiffon. In any event, you can procure a pattern in any of six sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 (with corresponding bust measurements of 33 1/4, 35, 36 1/2 and 38) and 40 and 42. Size 18 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material. For trimming, the neck and bow require 1 1/2 yards, and the belt and bow 2 1/2 yards.

"SHADOWS BY THE SEA"

A Summer Mystery BY J. JEFFERSON FARJEON

CHAPTER XVIII.

"Meanwhile, at the Mermaid—"

A minute later Leonard and Napoleon were leaning over the side of the wreck, hailing the occupants of the boat.

"Hallo there!" cried Leonard.

"Hallo!" sang back Mr. Griddle.

"Are you all right?"

"Rather! Havin' a rippin' time," replied Napoleon.

"But what's brought you along?"

"We heard a shot," Jessica Fyne's voice called, anxiously. "Are you sure no one's hurt?"

"There you are!" exclaimed Napoleon triumphantly to Leonard. "You see, I do the right thing by instinct!" Then, turning towards the boat again, he said, "No, no one's hurt."

"Really shamo!" It was Beryl's voice now. "We've brought along such a perfectly lovely First Aid set!"

"Do you mean to say you heard the shot from the hotel?" asked Leonard, as the boat drew along-side.

"We didn't. She did," responded Beryl, glancing at Jessica. "If people will sit by open windows late at night, instead of going properly to sleep, they're bound to hear unpleasant sounds. Particularly if the wind's in the right direction. But what's happened? Do tell us! We've had an awful scare. You don't mean to say, Nappy?"

"Eh? Oh, I do, I do," jerked Napoleon. "Call me names, if you like, but I did it to win five shillings. Yes, I expect I was a fearful ass, but I swore I'd show the world what a hero I could be and get the limelight turned on me for once!"

"But the limelight seems to be on two of you," said Jessica, looking at Leonard.

"Yes, I expect I'm only half a hero, really," returned Napoleon, "but half a hero's better than none. I didn't know where to find a blessed boat, and I asked Sefton to help me. When we found the boat, I refused to back out, and he refused to let me come alone." He peered over head. "Is that you, Morley? I rather hoped No. 4 would be Guy. I like spot cash. Where is Guy? Thought he'd have joined the merry party."

No one replied for a moment.

Then Beryl answered, seriously.

"I don't know where Guy is, Nappy. We—we hoped we'd find him here."

"Good Lord!" murmured Napoleon, and looked at Leonard.

"Do you mean that your brother isn't in his room?" queried Leonard, quietly.

"No, he's not there, Mr. Sefton," responded Beryl. "When Miss Fyne came to my room—after hearing the shot, you know—I decided to roust up Guy first. You see, we thought he could then roust up you, if necessary. But Guy wasn't there. So, we tried your room—and you weren't there. And then we tried yours, Nappy—and you weren't there."

"I guessed I wasn't," murmured Napoleon.

"I believe I was next on the list of eligibles," interposed Valentine Morley. "By the time they'd woken me, the noise had roused Mr. Griddle, also, so we thought we'd better make up a little party and come along to see what the trouble was. And we're still waiting to know. What was that shot? And where's your boat? Round the other side?"

"No—our boat's been taken," answered Leonard, slowly. "We found someone on board here—"

"What's that?" cried Mr. Griddle sharply. "You found someone on board, you say?"

"Yes. A sort of lunatic, I reckon. Anyway, while we were playing hide and seek with him, he slipped off in our boat, and left us marooned. True love fired into the water, to save him and get little of his own back—and that's the shot you heard, Miss Fyne."

"It's horrible!" exclaimed Jessica, with a shudder. "Who could it have been? I noticed a light from the wreck once, I thought, and that was one reason why I guessed where the shot came from."

"And I helped the guess, by recalling that idiotic bet you made with my young brother, Nappy," added Beryl. "We never thought it was serious, though. I'm sure Guy didn't, either. Couldn't believe you'd have the madness—or the courage—to do it."

"There's one thing I don't understand," observed Morley. "You say the other chap went off in your boat. But surely he had a boat of his own? Where is it?"

"Nowhere," answered Leonard. "How he got on the wreck is one of the various mysteries we seem to be up against."

"Perhaps you and I aren't the only swimming enthusiasts in the neighbourhood, Mr. Sefton?" suggested Beryl Haines.

"My hat!" cried Napoleon, suddenly. "It's Daisy!"

"Eyes were directed towards him rather anxiously. His exclamation did not appear to fit into the conversation. But Leonard understood it, and followed Napoleon's gaze.

"By Jove—it is Daisy!" he murmured.

"Where's Daisy?" asked Beryl. "Is she a rival?"

"You're sitting in her," responded Napoleon.

"If you mean this is a daisy boat, I don't agree—"

"Just the same, it is a Daisy boat, because that's her name!" retorted Napoleon. "Where the deuce did you pick her up? That's the boat we rowed across in—and the boat our lunatic went away!"

The eyes staring up from below grew wide in astonishment. Beryl gave a little shudder, and Valentine Morley jerked his head round suddenly at nothing.

"We found it on the beach at Craydon," said Jessica, after a short silence.

"A little fishing community about half-a-mile from your hotel?" asked Leonard.

"Yes. Do you know it?"

"Yes. That's where we found the boat, too."

"I knew we'd find a boat there, so we went there at once, and we took this boat because it was on the edge of the water." Mr. Griddle said his beloved someone had lately used it, but we didn't meet anybody, and as we didn't want to waste time, we just got in and pushed off."

"That little boat will get giddy," commented Leonard. "It's working overtime. But you, know, you and Miss Haines shouldn't have come—"

"We insisted," retorted Beryl, with a smile. "We were so anxious about our two darling darlings. We wanted to be left behind."

"After hearing that shot, did you think of telephoning to the police?" asked Leonard.

"He looked at Jessica, and she looked back at him.

"I did," she said, slowly. "It seemed to me the best thing to do in the new circumstances."

"I agree. Perhaps we ought—but never mind that now. You got on to them?"

"No, we only tried to," interposed Mr. Griddle, grimly. "We couldn't."

"Why not?"

"He shrugged his shoulders. "Because everybody's mad to-night. Someone had cut the wires."

Again, a short silence fell upon the company. The cutting of the telephone wires was unpleasantly significant.

"What about getting back?" suggested Morley.

"I'm sure I'm ready," answered Mr. Griddle, almost querulously. "But you mentioned 'one of the mysteries,' Mr. Sefton. Have you found any more on your wreck?"

"We've found a dead man," replied Napoleon, ingenuously. "He's here now."

The information caused some commotion down in the little boat, while Leonard, for the first time, felt really angry with Napoleon True love.

"Why blurt it out like that?" he exclaimed.

The anger passed the next moment, however. Napoleon was genuinely contrite.

"I am an ass," he murmured, penitently. "But the fact is I'm getting so hardened—"

"A dead man?" chipped in Mr. Griddle, excitedly. "Good heavens! What's behind all this? Morley, I think we'd better get on board."

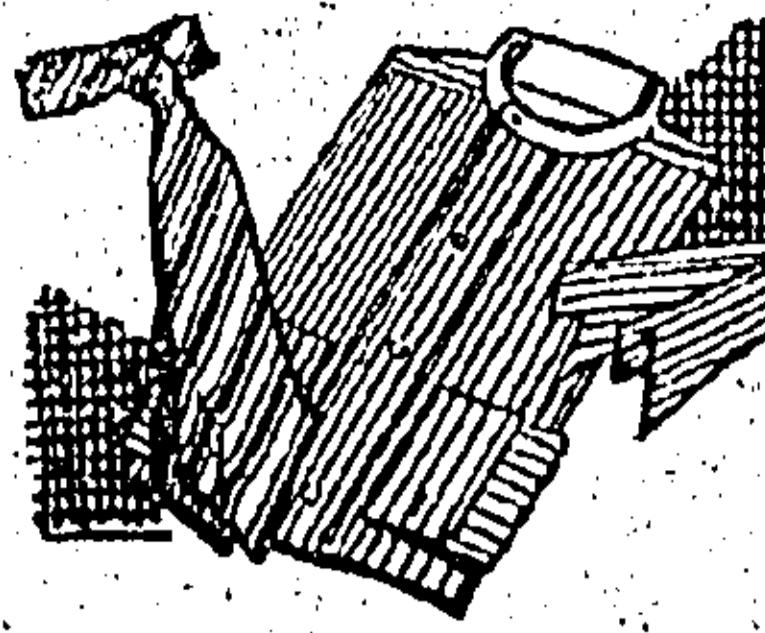

"Not both of you," replied Leonard. "One of you must stay in the boat. No, it's no one you know, Miss Fyne," he added quickly, as he caught her expression. "Don't worry."

Despite his age, Mr. Griddle swung himself up to the deck, and demanded to be taken to the place

A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM. This is a condition (or disease) to which many, if not most, of us are subject. It is a simple state of "break down" in the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (they are almost innumerable), the symptoms are the same: the most prominent being sleeplessness, loss of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary activities of life. When this condition is at such a crisis, it is forced into vitality—vigor, with strength and energy to throw off these morbid feelings, and as night succeeds the day this may be momentarily secured by a course of THE NEW FRIENDLY HERBAL THERAPION No. 3.

It is simple to understand the physical conditions and conditions, in either case, and it is difficult to imagine a disease or derangement whose main feature is weakness, that will not be relieved by a course of this remarkable recuperative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it.

It is the first and only safe course of humanity.

where the dead man lay. Morley was perfectly contented to remain in the boat, and offered no protest while the three other men embarked on their short, lugubrious journey. He took advantage of the opportunity to light a much-needed cigarette.

"What's wrong with passing them round?" asked Beryl Haines. "You're not the only one who feels nervous."

Meanwhile, Mr. Griddle was viewing the body. He stared at it long and earnestly, then turned to Leonard with a grunt.

"Well, what do you make of it?" he enquired shortly. "Anything?" "Precious little," answered Leonard. "I think we'll let the police do the guessing."

"The police? Yes, of course. They'll have to be notified in the morning."

"They'll have to be notified before the morning," replied Leonard, quietly. "They'll have to be notified to-night."

Mr. Griddle frowned. "They can't do anything to-night."

"Very likely not, but I think we must give them the chance."

"They'll be most grateful, if I know anything about them," reported Mr. Griddle, sarcastically. "Anyway, we can't notify them to-morrow. The phone won't work."

"The phone won't be necessary. I shall walk to the station."

"It's three miles!"

"That's a nuisance, but it can't be helped."

Mr. Griddle's frown grew.

"I say, you're taking rather a lot on to yourself, aren't you?" he remarked. "I'm inclined to think this is really a position for a round-the-table discussion."

"But, good Lord, sir!" broke in Napoleon, who had listened to this odd duel with considerable interest.

"Is there really anything to discuss you know? We find a dead man, and Guy Haines has disappeared—

"And you think it will help matters to rush off and inform the police? Well, you may be right. But, damny, it's not hard to guess what conclusion the police will come to!"

"What conclusion will they come to?" asked Leonard.

"They will come to the conclusion which is obvious when one man is found dead and another disappears."

Napoleon, was about to make a heated remark when Leonard stopped him with a look.

"Is that your conclusion, Mr. Griddle?" he enquired.

"I have formed no conclusion—yet," responded the old man. "The fact remains, however, that Guy Haines has vanished at a most inopportune moment, and that the telephone wires have been cut. That is why it seems to me that we should not rush matters, but should only act after careful discussion. Once we let the police in, you see, they will be writhing curious—and they may even want to know how it is that you, Mr. Truelove, brought a revolver with

EMPIRE SHIPPING CONFERENCE

BRITISH CARGOES FOR BRITISH SHIPS

London, Nov. 4.
An All-Empire Conference will meet in London early in 1934 to preserve the Empire's cargoes for Empire ships, says the Daily Express.

An organizing committee is being formed and invitations will be despatched to the representative shipping interests in the Dominions and the Colonies, this month.

It is learned in the most authoritative shipping circles that it is too early to say where the shipping conference will definitely meet, but there is a strong feeling in many quarters that such a conference is the only solution to the shipping crisis.

Later.

"The police? Yes, of course. They'll have to be notified in the morning."

"They'll have to be notified before the morning," replied Leonard, quietly. "They'll have to be notified to-night."

Mr. Griddle frowned. "They can't do anything to-night."

"Very likely not, but I think we must give them the chance."

"They'll be most grateful, if I know anything about them," reported Mr. Griddle, sarcastically. "Anyway, I vote we return to the boat now and get back to the hotel. I'm fed up with this old hulk, and want a change of scene."

As they retraced their steps, the old man trotting ahead, Napoleon plucked Leonard's arm and whispered:

"I say, aren't you going for the police?"

"Of course, I am," Leonard whispered back, "but Griddle seems so anxious for me not to that perhaps there's no need to let him know?"

FAIR AND PAGEANT

His Excellency the Governor, and Lady Peel, accompanied by Capt. R. F. Walker, A.D.C., arrived promptly at 2.30 p.m. and were met by the Rev. Ronald Hall, Bishop of Victoria, Rev. W. W. Rogers, and members of the Fair Committee. The 1st Kowloon Brownie Pack formed a guard of honour at the entrance.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONGKONG

"Adam and fallen man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden Text was: "For if by one man's offence death reigned by one; much more those who receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ" (Romans 5:17).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Ye therefore followers of God, as dear children; for ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord; walk as children of light: Proving what is acceptable unto the Lord . . . Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the lead, and Christ shall give thee light . . . For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made 'alive'" (Eph. 5:18, 10, 14—1 Cor. 15:22).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Did the origin and the enlightenment of the race come from the deep sleep which fell upon Adam? Sleep is darkness but God's creative mandate was, 'Let there be light' . . . Through discernment of the spiritual opposite of materiality, even the way through Christ, Truth, man will reopen with the key of divine Science the gates of Paradise which human beliefs have closed, and will find himself unfallen, upright, pure and free" (pp. 556, 171).

LEAGUE INTERVENTION IN DANZIG

"Warsaw, Nov. 5. The League of Nations' High Commissioner for Danzig, M. Rosting, has requested that a meeting of the League Council be called to discuss the constitutionality of the action of the Danzig police in suspending two Danzig newspapers for publishing the speech of the Vice-President of the Senate, Herr Greiser, in which he instructed that the Danzig police must hold Nazi opinions.

M. Rosting asked the President of the Danzig Senate, Herr Rausching, to revoke the suspension, but Herr Rausching refused and declared that if the order were not obeyed, he would order the imprisonment of the complainers in the ground that their action had endangered the security of the Free City.

The Labour-Socialist Association of Danzig has also protested to M. Rosting against its dissolution by the police on the ground that it was endangering the security of the city.—Reuters.

THE SEASON'S MOST THRILLING FOOTBALL MATCH

BORDERERS BEATEN

RUGBY WIN FOR THE CLUB

SUPERIORITY IN ALL DEPTS.

HUTCHISON'S FORM

(By "Line Out").

The Club scored a good victory at the expense of the Borderers on Saturday afternoon after a good open game. The Borderers were handicapped by the absence of one man throughout more than half of the game, and had only thirteen for the last ten minutes.

The Club's three quarters combined well and were faster than their opponents, both Robertson and Rigg cutting through on several occasions to make good openings for their wings. Lammert and Ferguson were both in form the former scoring two good tries and Ferguson one.

Rigg scored the fourth try for the Club, after walking through most of the Borderers backs. McLeelan converted one try and Robertson another. All the tries were spectacular efforts, but should have been stopped if the Borderers had tackled better.

HUTCHISON AGAIN.

Whitham was safe at back, but on one or two occasions he missed finding touch. Hutchinson was a success at stand off, as he took Selly's passes well, and had a good eye for an opening.

Selly threw out better passes than in the previous game, and the backs had plenty of opportunities as the forwards obtained the ball regularly. The Club forwards were often rattled by the rushes of the Borderers forwards who were a typical lively Welsh pack. Cumming was the best of the forwards.

The Borderers backs ran across the field for too much and made little ground on the occasion they got a chance. It meant that the wings were always cramped for space and were almost in touch when the ball reached them.

The Borderers scored their only try early in the second half, when they intercepted a pass from Robertson in his own twenty-five and backed over Whitham's head, the ball bouncing nicely for Walters, who had backed up well, to catch the ball, and beat Whitham in the dash for the line.

NAVY BEAT CLUB "A".

Several well-known Navy Rugby men were seen in action against the Club "A" on Saturday afternoon at Happy Valley. The Navy side won by four tries and one goal (17 points) to three goals (0 points).

The Club put up a fine struggle against a very much superior side, and although they were beaten for the ball in most of the tight scrums, the three quarters were dangerous on the few occasions they did get a chance. Archer and Griffiths combined well, and the latter was responsible for opening the score after Archer had run well down the wing.

"Telegraph" Picks The Winners

GOOD RESULTS IN OUR FORECASTS

Proof that the Telegraph is the most reliable of all local guides in sporting activities is to be found in the achievements of our sports correspondents this week.

RACING:

"Captain Foster" gave five winners and 10 placed ponies at the Happy Valley race meeting on Saturday.

"Ringtail" picked four winners and 18 placed runners.

These figures compare with "Morning Dew" who picked four winners and 14 places, "Rapier" who had five first and 17 placed ponies and "Early Bird," who forecasted four winners and 16 places.

HOME FOOTBALL.

In his extraordinarily accurate "Beat the Book" selections, "Robin" gave eleven out twelve correct home results had 100 per cent. correct away forecast for three matches, and went down only on the drawn games.

He actually gave 14 correct results out of a selection of 18 matches.

"The Pilgrim" achieved a good performance in forecast of all the division in home football, returning 31 correct results.

LOCAL FOOTBALL.

"Veritas" picked ten correct results out of 13 matches including the drawn games between the Lincoln and Navy in the second division and the R.A.S.C. and R.A.M.C. in the third division.

St. Claire Ford, the Scottish international wing three quarter then ran well to score three unconverted tries before half time.

The Club scored first in the second half touching down after a maul on the Navy line, and then Mire and Thomas added further tries for the Navy, the latter being converted. That before the final whistle the Club scored through Jenkins who caught a bouncing ball well and ran half the length of the field.

GOING ON LEAVE

Indian Hockey Captain Honoured By Club

Mr. Ahmad Khan, the ex-Captain of the K.I.T.C. Hockey Team, who is going on long leave to India shortly was entertained to a dinner party at the Club-House last night.

All the Hockey enthusiasts, including the Club's Vice-President, Mr. M. A. Khan, were present.

In wishing Mr. Ahmad Khan bon voyage and an enjoyable Holiday in India, Mr. M. A. Khan said that the Club's Hockey Team will feel his loss badly. He added that although Mr. Ahmad Khan was comparatively new to the game he was just as good as any other. Mr. Ahmad Khan replied similarly.

These present were then entertained by a most humorous speech in Punjabi by Mr. Waryam Singh, addressed by Mr. Firdos Khan.

MULE CORPS DEFEATED BY UNITED H.C.

The United Hockey Club gained two more points in the Marmal Tournament yesterday when they defeated the Hongkong Mule Corps on the Marina ground by one goal to nil. The United had the better of the exchanges, but were weak in front of goal. Several golden opportunities were missed, especially in the second half, when on two occasions they missed passes from their halves, in the gomphom. In fact, at the right back for the United was the outstanding player, G. Winch scored the only goal of the match.

HONGKONG LADIES WIN.

Playing at Sookunpoo on Saturday the Hongkong Ladies' Hockey Club trounced the Club do Recreio ladies by three goals to one. Miss J. Churchill scored all three goals for the winners while Miss M. Ruiz netted for the losers.

SCHOOL GIRLS TROUNCED.

The "B" team of the Hongkong Ladies' Hockey Club trounced the Central British School team by ten goals to one after leading by 4-1 at half time. The match was played at Happy Valley, Mrs. Adam (6) and Miss Hellings (4) being the scorers for the winners and Miss H. Knill for the losers.

CLUB SECONDS v. LINCOLNS.

The following will represent the Hongkong Hockey Club seconds in a friendly match against the Lincoln Regiment on the U.S.R.C. ground at Chatham Road at 5 o'clock this afternoon.—E. S. Moses; L. A. R. Dunn and L. F. Nicolson; K. E. Cotter, J. A. Jeffers and G. F. Rees; H. R. A. Wood; L. D. Kilbee, R. I. Alexander Sinclair; C. R. W. Alford and S. Hill.

TAY QUA TONG MAKES HISTORY

TURNED OFF FIELD IN FIRST MATCH FOR NEW CLUB

Tay Qua-tong, the Singapore football star, made his first appearance for South China in local league football yesterday.

For sixty minutes he delighted the crowd with a clever display of speedy football on the left wing.

Then, impelled by the excitement of the occasion, he crossed over to the other side of the field, where Underwood the Borderers left half had possession of the ball.

Tay fouled him, Underwood hit him, and the Chinese had the almost unique experience of being sent off the field in his first match.

(By "Veritas").

chief offenders.

It was palpably obvious after the first ten minutes that the essential weakness in the Artillery line was the right wing. I say this after due consideration of the fact that Snook's, the outside right, has been selected for the Services eleven against the F. A. for next Saturday, and that he is an old Army representative footballer.

By the same token it was emphasised that if the Artillery were to score their goals their right wing in the left wing, where not only was Greenfield a very forceful personality at inside left, but Seal was more than capable of holding his own against the opposition.

Left Wing Starved

By that strange trick of perverse ness which so often assails football players, Seal was left severely alone by his colleagues. Greenfields had to go for the ball if he wanted it, and all the Gunners' attacks were concentrated on the right wing.

It may not be right to aver that the Artillery would have won had they kept the ball on the left wing, but I certainly think they would have gone nearer than they did.

Not only was Snook completely bottled up by Elms, (by the way the selectors would do well to keep an eye on this youngster, who packs more skill in his boots and intelligent football theory, than a good many of our tried and trusted representative players), but Seal was just a pawn in the hands of A. V. Gosano.

Pardoe's Wasted Work

In spite of this Pardoe and Rodger continued to play these forwards with perfect passes until every Artillery attacking movement became known almost before they were initiated.

Not for a long time has he been so bad. He seemed to be obsessed with the idea of right wing passes and as a result undid all the excellent breaking up work previously accomplished.

Each in the defence Allan excelled himself, but Wroe was often caught napping and his kicking was weak in the extreme.

A critical survey of St. Joseph's is far more difficult. They scored their goals and won, and even if, in other respects they were not unusually impressive, they had also to be recorded that they revealed no weakness.

They touched a mediocre level in almost everything they did, and this was sufficient to pull them through.

The real redeeming feature of the forwards was to be found in their opportunism. They scored four snap goals because Leonard and Ward were slick enough to seize their openings.

On the move they rarely looked dangerous. Leonard scored his second goal from a dead kick. Ward obtained his goals from breakaways. In midfield they hardly ever obtained mastery. Leonard was a live figure and required careful watching. Ward too gave him useful support. But one could not extol over the virtues of the rest of the attack.

Football Text-Book.

Elms was the dominating figure among the halves. Against South China he played on the right wing. He switched across to left half and he seemed much happier.

There is an amount of promise in this former Radio Sports Club player. He has speed, tackles judiciously, makes intelligent use of his head, and knows how

R. ABBIT HAS A CHAT ABOUT THE H.K. INTERPORT TEAM

HOME FOOTBALL

READING'S FIRST AWAY WIN

POMPEY'S FEAT

(By "The Pilgrim")

The International match at Belfast concluded with drawn honours, each side scoring one goal, though it should be said that Wales were extremely unlucky not to win after leading by one goal at the interval:

Wales were weakened through the refusal of English clubs to release their best players, but were the more impressive team of the two. Their forwards were clever but good work was spoilt by weak shooting.

The Irish defence excelled against a strong attack.

Grover, the Welsh centre-forward, was outstanding, but missed a chance to score in the opening minute. However, he atoned for his lapse in the fifth minute, when he netted while the defenders were appealing for offside.

After the resumption Ireland played with determination.

The Welsh defence was uncertain under severe pressure. S. Jones equalised ten minutes after the restart.

There was a gate of 20,000.

31 CORRECT RESULTS.

League football is now running more true to form and forecasters have a happier time of it. I was lucky enough to pick 31 results which I hope did somebody some good.

Tottenham remain unshaken on their pedestal and show neither the faltering of Stoke who lost heavily to a much improved Middlesbrough or the uncertainty of the Arsenal who again failed to bring off a coup at Highbury. This time they had very bad luck, however, the visitors' only goal being scored by N. W. Sidney, the Arsenal defender who accidentally tapped the ball through whilst Moss was hesitating in the goal-mouth. There was a groan from a great section of the 55,000 people when the ball rolled over the line.

In defeating West Bromwich Albion, the "Spurs" deprived this ambitious club of its unbeaten home record and gained a two points lead at the head of the table.

That veteran favourite, J. Smith was responsible for Huddersfield's great victory over Everton at Goodison Park and enabled his club to draw level with Arsenal in the second position.

Bolton's task at Southampton was difficult enough in any event and with injuries incapacitating temporarily several players, they did well to lose by so small a margin.

READINGS FIRST AWAY.

Bury improved themselves at the leader's cost, the Hammers scoring two in reply to a brace. The United showed good form at Craven Cottage, taking the points with two goals to which Fulham could find no reply.

Reading and Watford brought off the best performances in the Southern section, the first-named drawing up to third place with a win at Northampton and the second taking another step from the bottom at Torgny's expense. The Invincible Chesterfield damped Rotherham's ardour by a 3-1 win whilst Stockport ran wild to hit the inside of the ninth time against Southport. Tranmere were not expected to win at York and they slipped down a place in the table.

Motherwell are still scraping home by the odd goal and they brought off a narrow victory against Dundee by 2-0 which leaves their supremacy still practically unchallenged. Rangers have settled down to serious football and will be on their heels at the first slip I think.

TACTICS AT FAULT

football text-book. Boltra played quite a useful part in holding up the opposing forwards, though it struck me he was not so effective after he had discarded his beret. These idiosyncrasies such as wearing berets, chewing gum, playing with shirt sleeves rolled up, or left hanging down have an astonishing psychological influence.

Boltra wouldn't think of going onto the court without his beret, and H.D. Rumjahn always gives the impression of losing form when he discards his.

Anyhow, Boltra's best work was performed during the first twenty minutes. After that time he threw away his skull cap.

The Saints were certainly solid in defence. Gosano, constantly jumping in, where perhaps, angels would have feared to tread, repeatedly spoilt the Artillery movements.

Gomes, less burdened because the ball was not half so much over his side of the field, was steady and covered Gosano in reliable style.

Behind these two was Marques, who still has claims to being the best goalkeeper in the league. He was blameless for the goals which were scored against him, and more than once

FRIENDLY CRICKET.

Malayan Interporters In Action.

GILL IMPRESSIVE.

Two Malayan Interporters were seen in action in the friendly cricket match between the Indian R. C. and the University at Pukuhara on Saturday which resulted in a draw. They were W. O. Jonklaas and B. S. Gill, who both made a good impression.

Gill played for the Indians, and was undefeated with 38 runs when the innings was declared closed at 141 for 6 wickets. F. D. Pereira reached the boundary on four occasions in making 18, after which he retired, and A. H. Rumjahn played steadily for 10.

At close of play the University had lost nine wickets for 102 runs, towards which Jonklaas contributed 26 and E. L. Gogano 20. Jonklaas showed himself to be very hard hitter, and on three occasions lifted A. R. Minu's bowling out of the ground. He was completely at sea when facing Pereira, and was eventually bowled by that bowler. Pereira claimed three wickets for 14 runs, and A. K. Ismail, the I. R. C. left-hander, captured four wickets for 14 runs. Ismail bowled very well indeed, and kept a good length.

Kowloon v. Royal Navy.

The Kowloon Cricket Club engaged the Royal Navy at a friendly at King's Park, and were defeated by seven wickets, after declaring their innings closed at 136 runs for nine wickets.

The principal scorers for Kowloon were Lt. G. C. Garthwaite (28), N. A. E. Mackay (23) and A. T. Lay (22). Richards captured 9 wickets for 28 runs.

The Navy totalled 130 runs for four wickets, Lt. Eaden being top scorer, with 42 runs not out, and Lt.-Cdr. Carver claiming 36 Lt. Larkin 33 runs.

Kowloon Juniors v. Civil Service.

The Kowloon Cricket Club's second eleven gained an easy victory over the Royal Army Medical Corps at Sockupoo, winning by 112 runs. The Club totalled 167 runs for seven wickets, and declared. A. K. Mackenzie contributing 23 and R. S. W. Patterson 57 runs. The military side were dismissed for 46, A. D. Lawson doing the damage with six wickets for 10, and E. Smith claiming four wickets for 21.

Kowloon Juniors v. Civil Service.

The Kowloon Cricket Club's second eleven played a drawn match with the Civil Service on their own ground. The Club Servants were dismissed for 110 runs, W. Hyde taking four wickets for 24. J. F. Mcowan was the chief scorer with 30.

Kowloon scored 110 for five wickets when stumps were drawn. S. Jex was undefeated with 57, and D. S. Green followed with 35. R. A. J. Simpson captured four wickets for 22.

St. Joseph's v. Recrelo.

At King's Park, the Club de Recrelo defeated St. Joseph's College by 92. Recrelo batted first and scored 103 runs for eight wickets, before declaring. W. A. Reed Scored 20 and E. Soares 35. The Josephians were dismissed for only 11, of which C. Amery scored six. P. M. N. da Silva captured three wickets for seven and C. L. Lopes six wickets for four.

FIRST OF SEASON.

Don Bradman Scores Double Century At Brisbane.

Brisbane, Nov. 4.

D. G. Bradman, the Bowral cricketer, scored 200 runs in his first innings of the season when playing for New South Wales against Queensland in Sheffield Shield match here.

Bradman played a scintillating cricket and was at the crease for 184 minutes in compiling his runs which included 26 boundary hits.—Reuter.

M.C.C. WIN MATCH.

Lahore, Nov. 5.

The M.C.C. tourists defeated North India in a draw by an innings and 135 runs.

Northern India scored only 63 in their first knock, Clark taking four for seven and Marriot four for 20. In their second stand, the Indian eleven scored 58, Marriot taking three for 29 and Lander three for 12. Human took two wickets for no runs.

The M. C. C. replied with 240 for 7 declared. Mitchell scored 54 and Townsend 59.—Reuter.

cleared from very threatening situations.

Against the Play

Leonard gave the Saints the lead with a glorious shot, but the Artillery won the quicker to settle down to concerted effort, and after Greenidge had hit the cross bar with Marques bent on the wide, and Marques the goal-keeper sprawling across the line after a ball which just passed the upright, Seal, crowned a useful piece of work on the wing with a perfect angle shot which found no answer from Marques.

The Artillery should lead at the Interval instead of sharing two goals.

It was more or less against the run of the play that St. Joseph's took the lead again, and increased it to 2-1 before Leach scrambled home the Gunners' second goal.

But Ward made certain of the issue, catching the Artillery vanguard napping and going through to net his second and the Saints' fourth goal.

Gomes, less burdened because the ball was not half so much over his side of the field, was steady and covered Gosano in reliable style.

Behind these two was Marques, who still has claims to being the best goalkeeper in the league. He was blameless for the goals which were scored against him, and more than once

OUR BOWLING IS O.K.

AND BATTING NOT SO BAD

"GOOD LUCK" TO OWEN HUGHES

(By R. Abbit).

As I have not been in a position to see our local players in action so far this season, I am obliged to confine myself to generalities and to such information as I have obtained from those who are qualified to criticise.

One thing I notice particularly. The general opinion seems to be that it is the best team that could have been chosen. There are of course some who would not agree to this. But taking it by large I have heard far less adverse criticism this year than for good many years past. This must be very gratifying to those gentlemen who took on the arduous post of selector.

NOTABLE ABSENTES.

These are of course several names that, at first view, one would however expect to find in the team which do not appear. I had expected to find Tom Hayward capturing the side but I understand he has not yet recovered his old form. I never thought that he did so last year, after he had been laid aside by illness for sometime.

The two other names that particularly occur to me are those of Perdris and Burnett, but I gather that they both have failed to find their true form with the ball this year. It is bad luck, but there are few, if any, cricketers who do not get their bad patches.

Besides the three already mentioned players I notice that both E. J. R. Mitchell and A. C. Beck have just returned to the Colony. Neither could expect to find a place in the first match, and to be honest, I think Mitchell will always have to play himself into the team, unless he plays as skipper, when his unflinching optimism and superb confidence can easily turn a team of ferrets into a cricket eleven.

The case of Beck is more unfortunate. He bowled brilliantly at Liverpool on November 11, however, and by a strange coincidence may establish the new season's record on that day, the forty-seventh anniversary of Archer's death. He needs one pick him on absolutely no play. Actually the team was selected before the ship arrived in the Colony. I am not, however, of opinion that we may not see him in action. If our present team defeat Malaya comfortably we shall not. But if not, I fancy he may be chosen as a fast bowler, for frankly our present team has not one. But more of this later—and the wicket is going to come into the question a lot.

THE TEAM AND THE WICKET.

As I write these notes on Sunday night it is raining like the next letter to K. My room looks over the cricket ground and I can assure my readers that I can see a large patch of standing water in the middle of the ground. Now, our ground recovers amazingly rapidly—we should have a better wicket if it did not. But, even if it is fit for play on Monday morning, as it very well may be, the wicket is going to be wet. And that is not going to help us at all. Our batsmen are used to fast dry wickets and the slow turners are rather unusual. And, at the same time, there are certain bowlers here who feel completely lost if they cannot make it fizz past the batsman's eyebrows two or three times an over at least.

And, so, if one is to discuss the team in advance—and this article will probably appear before very much cricket has been played—one must do so in relation to a cricket definitely slower than the ordinary.

A TEAM OF BOWLERS?

I have gathered that the general opinion is that we have a very fine if not varied, bowling side. At any rate, we have quite a lot of bowlers in the side, and as bowlers are human (very human, sometimes) the more you have the more you are likely to produce one or two on their day.

Now that it is raining A. R. Minu leaps into even more prominence than before. He is the only, real slow bowler on the side, and with a glue pot wicket he might well run through any team.

There are two other slow merchants H. Owen Hughes and T. A. Pearce.

As changes they may be most difficult, but I most sincerely hope they will be used only for an over or two at a time—little and often.

A. C. Hamilton is in my opinion the pick of our attack, and I happen to know after the last Interval down here Donald Leach.

Leach is the best we have, but he has definitely said that he was our best bowler. Goodwin has apparently staged a come back and on his day there is no better fast-medium bowler. His favourite wicket, however, is a hard one with most of the grass off. I doubt very much if he will be effective on a rain-damaged pitch until the sun has got well on it.

I wish Owen Hughes the very best of fortune with his side.

It was more or less against the run of the play that St. Joseph's took the lead again, and increased it to 2-1 before Leach scrambled home the Gunners' second goal.

But Ward made certain of the issue, catching the Artillery vanguard napping and going through to net his second and the Saints' fourth goal.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

Today's Contract Problem

WHAT should the final contract be on the following hand:

North: ♠ Q 9 8 6 3 ♦ A 10 8
♦ A Q 3 ♦ A Q
East: ♠ A 10 ♦ Q 8 7 4
♦ J 7 6 4 ♦ 5 3 2
South: ♠ K 5 4 ♦ K 10 9 7 2
♦ K 6 3 ♦ J 10 9 2
West: ♠ J 7 2 ♦ 5 3 2
♦ 10 9 8 ♦ K 9 6 4

Solution in next issue. 11

Solution to Previous Contract Problem

West can hardly be criticized for doubling a five diamond contract on the following problem hand. However, Mr. John Rau, youngest player ever to win a national championship, was successful in making the contract.

The Bidding

South bid one heart. West passed and North bid two diamonds. South bid three clubs. North bid three no trump and South bid four clubs. North bid four diamonds and South went to five diamonds. West doubled and Mr. Rau in the North doubled.

The Play

The opening lead was the queen of spades, which Mr. Rau won with the ace. He immediately led the queen of clubs and followed with the five of clubs, winning in dummy with the jack.

The ace of clubs was played and West trumped with the deuce of diamonds. North over-trumped with the three of diamonds and then led the five of spades, trumping in dummy with the ten of diamonds.

The king of clubs was then led and this time West trumped with the nine of diamonds. Mr. Rau in the North over-trumped with the ace of diamonds and then led the five of diamonds which West won with the king. West returned a spade, North winning with the king and then leading the eight of diamonds which West won with the jack.

West returned another spade which Mr. Rau in the North trumped with the six of diamonds, after which he led the seven spot,

♠ A K 5
♦ Q 6
♦ A 8 7 6 5 3
♦ Q 5
♠ 8 7 6 5 2	♦ Q J 10 9

picking up West's last trump. He then led a small heart, won in dummy with the ace and discarded his queen of hearts on the good six of clubs.

by Rax', which comes to the King's Theatre on Wednesday. The film is said to afford McLaglen the most comic role of his career, far surpassing "The Cock-Eyed World" and "What Price Glory" in its farcical possibilities.

Greta Nissen, who has the role of a platinum blonde sweetie in "Rackete Rax", shares honours in the comedy scenes with Nell O'Day, from the musical comedy stage. Marjorie Beatrice as a racketeer's battling wife and Esther Howard as a "fixer-lady" or muscle-nerve's go-between, both have parts which are reported as having plenty of opportunity for laughter.

The comedians in "Rackete Rax" are Arthur Pierson as a sportling page press-agent; Allen Dinehart, as a sanctimonious college professor and underworld lawyer-fix; Allen Jenkins; Vince Barnett, Hollywood's cleverest "ribber"; Stanley Fields, Ivan Linow, Ward and John Keyes, the latter in real life "The Mayor of China-town" in New York.

FIRE AT CROWD

INDIAN CONSTABLE TELLS OF ATTACK

Some excitement was caused in Upper Lascar Road, the Paddy's Market area, yesterday morning when an Indian constable is alleged to have been attacked by an unruly crowd after he had made an arrest, drawn his revolver and fired a shot which struck a man in the right heel. The constable involved was Imam Ali Shan, I.P.C. B631.

The trouble originated when the constable arrested a woman named Lal Nui, who was carrying three tins alleged to have contained Chinese wine. Several supporters of the woman then started as if to attack the constable, and he was compelled to fire for his own safety.

A man named Lam Lin was hit in the right heel, the bullet entering the Chinese shoe he was wearing, and causing a superficial wound, which proved very painful.

The arrested woman was taken to the charge room of the Central Police Station, and was followed by the man, Lam Lin, who limped in supported by an elderly man.

Reports were made, the Police constable alleging that when he tried to arrest the woman he had been pelted with stones, several of which struck him. Marks were visible on the back of his shirt and on the leather revolver holster he carried.

The injured man was taken to the Government Civil Hospital in an ambulance, and the matter is being investigated.

The woman will be charged to-day with resisting arrest.

Third International.

He was educated in America and fled there about fifteen years ago, when prosecution followed his work at labour organisation. —Reuter.

BATTLE OF THE ELEMENTS NEAR HONGKONG

NOT BECOMING A PROFESSIONAL

Miss Joyce Wethered Denies Report

London, Nov. 6. Miss Joyce Wethered, in an interview, denied the Daily Mirror report that she is turning professional. Miss Wethered emphasized that she had no intention of doing so or of playing exhibition games.—Reuter.

BRITAIN'S CHANCE

TO RESUME LEADERSHIP IN CHINA

AIL FOR NANKING GOVERNMENT

London, Nov. 5. Britain has an opportunity now which may never recur to resume her former leadership in Chinese affairs, declares Mr. Wardlaw Milne, M.P., in a letter to the Times.

The letter urges that it should be Britain's aim to assist the Nanking Government by every possible means to lead China back along the path of peace and prosperity.

Pointing out that it would involve the adoption of a more definite policy than Britain has been pursuing in recent years, Mr. Wardlaw Milne suggests the moving of the permanent residence of the British Minister in China from Peking to a city nearer Nanking as an integral part in the transition from the attitude of aloofness to one of active support.

NEEDS SUPPORT.

The letter declares that the situation in China is undoubtedly more stable than it has been for some time past.

The Nanking Government to-day possesses more prestige and power than any of its predecessors, but is faced with many difficulties and needs moral and material support.

There is no power to whom she should be able to look for this than Britain.—Reuter.

CHINA'S FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES

Statement in Nanking by Mr. Kung

Nanking, Nov. 6. The Government's financial problems were this morning outlined by Mr. H. H. Kung, who, immediately after his arrival from Shanghai, proceeded to the Central Kuomintang Headquarters, where he addressed the weekly memorial meeting.

He gave details of the Government's present financial situation and outlined his financial policy.

Mr. Kung declared that, "after the successful completion of the Kuomintang Northern Expedition, the Government contemplated a reduction in military expenditures, thereby enabling the carrying out of the Government's reconstruction programme."

The Government called a conference seeking the disbandment of superfluous forces.

Unfortunately, certain quarters did not know the real significance of the conference, which therefore failed.

It is undeniably to-day that military expenditure forms the main item in the military budget.—Reuter.

TYphoon V. MONSOON

NORTH-EASTER EXPECTED TO WIN

FREAK TRICK OF WEATHER

A fierce battle of the elements is now proceeding somewhere about 200 miles to the south-west of Hongkong.

The contending forces are the typhoon, which suddenly recurved and commenced to advance upon Hongkong, and the North-East Monsoon.

This rather unusual position, according to the Royal Observatory, arose during the night.

The typhoon appeared to be following very much in the track of its immediate predecessor, travelling very fast. After reaching 18 N. 110 E. it swung round and headed towards Hongkong, being brought to a halt by the N. E. monsoon at a point about 200 miles to the south-west.

DIRTY WEATHER.

There appears to be a "battle" between the monsoon and the typhoon, and there is every indication of the monsoon winning, although the conflict is causing what a mariner would describe as "dirty weather."

No. 1 signal was hoisted at 10.20 a.m. but latest reports reaching the Observatory indicate that the typhoon is surrendering and is filling up.

OBSERVATORY REPORT.

The Observatory weather report states:

An anti-cyclone of considerable intensity has developed to the north of the Yangtze valley and an elongated depression covers Japan and the Loochees.

The typhoon has recurred and is now situated in the immediate vicinity of North-East Hainan; about 200 miles S.W. of Hongkong; apparently filling up.

Forecast:—North and East winds, strong; cloudy with rain, probably improving.

On account of the inclement weather all hockey matches fixed for to-day have been cancelled.

PASSIVE RESISTANCE BY NATIVES

Rubber Restriction Rumours

London, Nov. 6. The Amsterdam correspondent of the Financial Times quotes the Algemeen Handelsblad as stating that a campaign to influence the native rubber growers against restriction is apparently proceeding in the Dutch East Indies.

The campaign is probably based on political motives and if restriction is adopted, passive resistance in the native quarters may have to be reckoned with.

Well-informed Dutch rubber circles are still confident that these matters will be settled at a conference of Governmental commissioners at Batavia on November 22.—Reuter.

CONTROL OF CULTURE

NEW INSTITUTION IN GERMANY

A National Culture Chamber, of which Herr Gobbel, the Minister of Propaganda, will be the President, is to be inaugurated on November 15.

The organization will have entire control of the arts in Germany, including music, drama, letters and cinematography.—Reuter.

General Balbo, whose impending resignation is rumoured, shown with the American Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Claude Swanson.

VLADIVOSTOCK COMPLAINT

JAPANESE FLIGHT OVER SIBERIA

COMPLETE DENIAL BY JAPAN

TEN JAPANESE MILITARY PLANES FLEW TWENTY MILES INTO SOVIET TERRITORY ON FRIDAY, ACCORDING TO A MESSAGE FROM VLADIVOSTOK.

Reuter's Riga correspondent says that a very sharp Soviet protest against this violation of Soviet territory is expected.

In the meantime, the tension between Soviet Russia and Japan is the subject of a sensational article contributed by M. Leon Trotsky, the ex-Communist leader, to L'OEuvre.

Japan, says M. Trotsky, must expect war against both the Soviet and the United States.

Commenting on the probable outcome of a conflict between Russia and Japan, he says that conditions in both countries have changed to a remarkable extent since the Russo-Japanese war.

The Soviet has been re-born since the Revolution, while Japan has been feudally exploited by her militarists.

Feeble condition.

M. Trotsky concludes his article by citing statistics to show that Japan is in a feeble condition beyond the Soviet and with the United States.

He therefore concludes that it should be hoped that the Japanese militarists will decide against tempting destiny.—Reuter.

JAPANESE STATEMENT.

Tokyo, Nov. 6. The War Office denies knowledge of the alleged flight of Japanese aeroplanes over Soviet territory.

Nothing is known about the alleged incident in Tokyo beyond the Tass report from Moscow.—Reuter.

REPORT NOW DENIED

STRICT STANDING ORDERS

Tokyo, Nov. 6. No Japanese military aeroplanes have strict standing orders not to permit planes to fly within two kilometres of the Soviet border.—Reuter.

CUBA UPHEAVAL FEARED

SERIES OF BOMB OUTRAGES

NEW PRESIDENT LIKELY

Fresh upheaval in Cuba is feared as imminent by the populace of Havana, sporadic bombings and shooting having disturbed the peace since Thursday evening, when the fall of the Grau San Martin Government loomed more certainly on the horizon.

Sergeant Bautista, the chief of staff, is the most powerful figure in the developments and he is reported to have been in close touch with Carlos Mendieta, whom many favour as provisional president, although he says himself that he does not desire the post.

The Nationalist leader issued a statement, however, in which he declared that Dr. San Martin must resign for the reason that he lacks the popular support necessary for the establishment of orderly government.

BOMB OUTRAGES.

A bomb was found to-day in the offices of the Public Works Department, but the fuse was disconnected and the bomb rendered harmless in time. Many bombs exploded in other parts of the city doing considerable damage.

YESTERDAY'S STREET SHOOTING

Woman Charged With Evading Arrest

A sequel to the disturbance in Upper Lascar Row yesterday, when an Indian Police constable had to resort to firing a shot to curb an unruly crowd, was the appearance of a married woman, Lai Nui, 50, before Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court this morning.

The defendant was charged with resisting arrest and damaging a Police whistle and chain. The complainant was Indian P.C. B. 631. Det-Sergt. Allen's application for forty-eight hours remand in Police custody for further enquiries, was granted.

LOTTERY PRIZE RUMOUR

"UNFORTUNATELY NOT TRUE"

Strong rumours have been current that Mr. J. S. Landolt, chief clerk in the purchasing department of Canadian Pacific Steamships, had won about $200,000 in the China National State Lottery. First prize in the Lottery was drawn by Ticket No. 289,779, estimated to be worth about $350,000 in Hongkong currency, and Mr. Landolt was stated to be the holder of a four-fifths share of the ticket.

In an interview with the Telegraph this afternoon, Mr. Landolt said that, unfortunately, there was no truth in the rumour. He took several tickets in the Lottery, but the winning number was not among them.

He had received telephone congratulations from dozens of people and had the not very pleasing task of undeceiving them.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Church of Our Saviour in Canton on Saturday evening. The contracting parties were Miss Miltene Wong, of Hongkong, and Mr. Lau Yum-kin, of Nanking. Archdeacon Mok Sau Chang officiated.

Colp of replies from the Kwantung and Korean armies.

The reply, which it is expected will be cabled to Moscow, added that the military authorities in Manchuria and Korea have strict standing orders not to permit planes to fly within two kilometres of the Soviet border.—Reuter.

ROBBERY AT SINCERE'S

SEQUEL TO SEPTEMBER INCIDENT

Washington, Nov. 5. A robbery on the first floor of the Sincere Company on September 7 last, when a number of cameras and binoculars were stolen, had a police court sequel this morning.

Li Kwal, 20, unemployed, was brought before Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court charged on two counts of store-breaking and receiving.

Defendant pleaded not guilty to both charges.

Detective-Inspector M. Murphy applied for 48 hours remand in Police custody which was granted.

ROCKET STORY DENIED

Human Passenger "Invention"

Berlin, Nov. 6. It is learned from Stettin that the Saturday Referee rocket story is denied.

It is declared that the last rocket experiment on the Baltic Coast was held in July, 1932, and that was a failure.—Reuter.

HONGKONG FILM

ON EXHIBITION AT WORLD

LOCAL LADY STAR CHEERED

A film made in Hongkong with a local girl taking the leading part, is attracting a great deal of attention from the Chinese at the World Theatre this week.

Yesterday big crowds besieged the theatre when the picture, the English title of which is "Good Hearted", was shown, and when Miss Tung Sing-toa, who starred in the film, attended a performance, she was given an enthusiastic reception.

Miss Tung not only plays the leading role, but is also responsible for the story. It has a strong romantic theme with the customary love interest.

The majority of the scenes were shot in Hongkong, some in the Lee Gardens and others at Pokfulam. Miss Tung is a Hongkong girl, and it is recognized that her reputation as a talking screen actress. Playing opposite her is Pak Yuk-tong, an established favourite among Chinese audiences.

SHARP U.S. NOTE

INSULL CASE SEQUEL

VIOLATION OF TREATY

Washington, Nov. 5. A sharp note has been sent by the United States Government to Greece following the refusal of the Greek authorities to order the extradition of Mr. Samuel Insull.

The American Note notifies Greece of the denunciation of the Greco-American Extradition Treaty.

The Note, details of which have been released by the State Department, expresses astonishment that the Greek authorities should refuse Mr. Insull's extradition, action which the Note describes as "unreasonable" and as a "clear violation of the Treaty."

The Note accuses the Greek authorities of attempting actually to try the case.—Reuter.

PALESTINE RIOTS

REPERCUSSIONS IN SYRIA

Repercussions of the Palestine disorders occurred during the week-end at Beyrouth and Damacus, where police and troops were attacked by demonstrators. One man is reported to have been killed and scores were arrested.

They include the manager of both papers and the editor of one of them.

They were arrested on the ground that they appealed directly to Dr. Rosting, the League Commissioner, against the suppression of their papers. Instead of the Senate—Reuter.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

A Setting to Whet Lagging Appetites

Nothing whets lagging appetites so much as food served out of doors. When your family refuses to eat these hot days, try serving a few al-fresco meals. Have simple furniture that won't get ruined by rain. Don't take your very best china and line out into the yard for picnic meals. Tablecloths of some oilcloth variety are best. They won't show spots and they save laundry. You simply wipe them off with a damp cloth.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

There is much to be said in favour of lines on the face of a woman over thirty-five. And much to be said against them if she is younger.

Lines and wrinkles naturally come with maturity and it is practically impossible to prevent all of them. Nor would you want to. A few lines on the face of an older woman add a lot of character and interest to her face. Some of the most beautiful older women in the world have many fine laugh lines around their eyes and the inevitable vertical lines around their mouths. One cannot imagine them being beautiful without those lines.

But when it comes to the younger girl, lines and wrinkles are an entirely different matter. You should take steps to prevent them while your skin is still firm and young.

There are nourishing creams for the dry skin. Dryness is one of the most prevalent causes of premature lines.

Why not shop around a bit for reliable nourishing and tissue creams? When you find one, plan to use it every night after you have cleaned your face. Leave it on all night occasionally.

Don't overlook the importance of muscle oils for the lines around your eyes. The oil should be warmed slightly, patted on the spots where lines may appear and left on all night.

We Moderns

Our Chic twins illustrate the evening mode in blocks of wheat crepe—cornflower blue. Velvet ribbon, in a deeper hue, adjusts the youthful round neck-line and accents the slender waist.

SIMPLICITY and charm, as usual, distinguish this presentation of the Chic twins. Perhaps you would prefer this model in a pastel shade of diaphanous chiffon. In any event, you can procure a pattern in any of six sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 (with corresponding bust measurements of 33 1/4, 35, 36 1/4 and 38) and 40 and 42. Size 18 requires 3 3/4 yards of 39-inch material. For trimming, the neck and bow require 1 3/4 yards, and the belt and bow 2 1/4 yards.

CHAPTER XVIII.

"Meanwhile, at the Mermaid—"

A minute later Leonard and Napoleon were leaning over the side of the wreck, hailing the occupants of the boat.

"Hello there!" cried Leonard.

"Hello!" sang back Mr. Gridle.

"Are you all right?"

"Rather! Havin' a rippin' time," replied Napoleon. "But what's brought you along?"

"We heard a shot," Jessica Fyne's voice called, anxiously. "Are you sure no one's hurt?"

"There you are!" exclaimed Napoleon triumphantly to Leonard. "You see, I do the right thing by instinct!" Then, turning towards the boat again, he said, "No, no one's hurt."

"Beastly shame!" It was Beryl's voice now. "We've brought along such a perfectly lovely First Aid set!"

"Do you mean to say you heard the shot from the hotel?" asked Leonard, as the boat drew alongside.

"We didn't. She did," responded Beryl, glancing at Jessica. "If people will sit by open windows late at night instead of going properly to sleep, they're bound to hear unpleasant sounds. Particularly if the wind's in the right direction. But what's happened? Do tell us! We've had an awful scare. You don't mean to say, Nappy?"

"Eh? Oh, I do, do," jerked Napoleon. "Call me names, if you like, but I did it to win five shillings. Yes, I expect I was a fiferous ass, but I assure I'd show the world what a hero I could be and get the limelight turned on me for once!"

"But the limelight seems to be on two of you," said Jessica, looking at Leonard.

"Yes, I expect I'm only half a hero, really," returned Napoleon, "but half a hero's better than none. I didn't know where to find a blessed boat, and I asked Sefton to help me. When we found the boat, I refused to back out, and he refused to let me come alone." He peered over head. "Is that you, Morley? I rather hoped No. 4 would be Guy. I like spot cash. Where is Guy? Thought he'd have joined the merry party."

No one replied for a moment. Then Beryl answered, seriously.

"I don't know where Guy is, Nappy. We—we hoped we'd find him here."

"Good Lord!" murmured Napoleon.

Leonard, and looked at Leonard. "Do you mean that your brother isn't in his room?" queried Leonard, quietly.

"No, he's not there, Mr. Sefton," responded Beryl. "When Miss Fyne came to my room—after hearing the shot, you know—I decided to rout up Guy first. You see, we thought he could then rout up you, if necessary. But Guy wasn't there. So we tried your room—and you weren't there. And then we tried yours, Nappy—and you weren't there."

"I guessed I wasn't," murmured Napoleon.

"I believe I was next on the list of eligibles," interposed Valentine Morley. "By the time they'd woken me, the noise had roused Mr. Gridle, also, so we thought we'd better make up a little party and come along to see what the trouble was. And we're still waiting to know. What was that shot? And where's your boat? Round the other side?"

"No—our boat's been taken," answered Leonard, slowly. "We found someone on board here."

"What's that?" cried Mr. Gridle sharply. "You found someone on board, you say?"

"Yes. A sort of lunatic, I reckon. Anyway, while we were playing hide and seek with him, he slipped off in our boat, and left us marooned. Truelove fired into the water, to scare him and get a little of his own back—and that's the shot you heard, Miss Fyne."

"It's horrible!" exclaimed Jessica, with a shudder. "Who could it have been? I noticed a light from the wreck once, I thought, and that was one reason why I guessed where the shot came from."

"And I helped the guess, by recalling that idiotic bet you made with my young brother, Nappy," added Beryl. "We never thought it was serious, though. I'm sure Guy didn't, either. Couldn't believe you'd have the madness—or the courage—to do it."

"There's one thing I don't understand," observed Morley. "You say the other chap went off in your boat. But surely he had a boat of his own? Where is it?"

"Nowhere," answered Leonard. "How he got on the wreck is one of the various mysteries we seem to be up against."

"Perhaps you and I aren't the only swimming enthusiasts in the neighbourhood, Mr. Sefton?" suggested Beryl Haines.

"My hat!" cried Napoleon, suddenly. "It's Daisy!"

"Eyes were directed towards him

rather anxiously. His exclamation did not appear to fit into the conversation. But Leonard understood it, and followed Napoleon's gaze.

"By Jove—it is Daisy!" he murmured.

"Where's Daisy?" asked Beryl. "Is she a rival?"

"You're sitting in her," responded Napoleon.

"If you mean this is a daisy boat, I don't agree."

"Just the same, it is a Daisy boat, because that's her name!" retorted Napoleon. "Where the deuce did you pick her up? That's the boat we rowed across in—and the boat our lunatic went away in!"

The eyes staring up from below grew wide in astonishment. Beryl gave a little shudder, and Valentine Morley jerked his head round suddenly at nothing.

"We found it on the bench at Craydon," said Jessica, after a short silence.

"A little fishing community about a mile from your hotel?" asked Leonard.

"Yes. Do you know it?"

"Yes. That's where we found the boat, too."

"I knew we'd find a boat there, so we went there at once, and we took this boat because it was on the edge of the water. Mr. Gridle said he believed someone had lately used it, but we didn't meet anybody, and as we didn't want to waste time, we just got in and pushed out."

"That little boat will get giddy," commented Leonard. "It's working overtime. But, you know, you and Miss Haines shouldn't have come."

"We insisted," retorted Beryl, with a smile. "We were so anxious to be left behind."

"After hearing that shot, did you think of telephoning to the police?" asked Leonard.

He looked at Jessica, and she looked back at him.

"I am an ass," he murmured, penitently. "But the fact is I'm getting so hardened—"

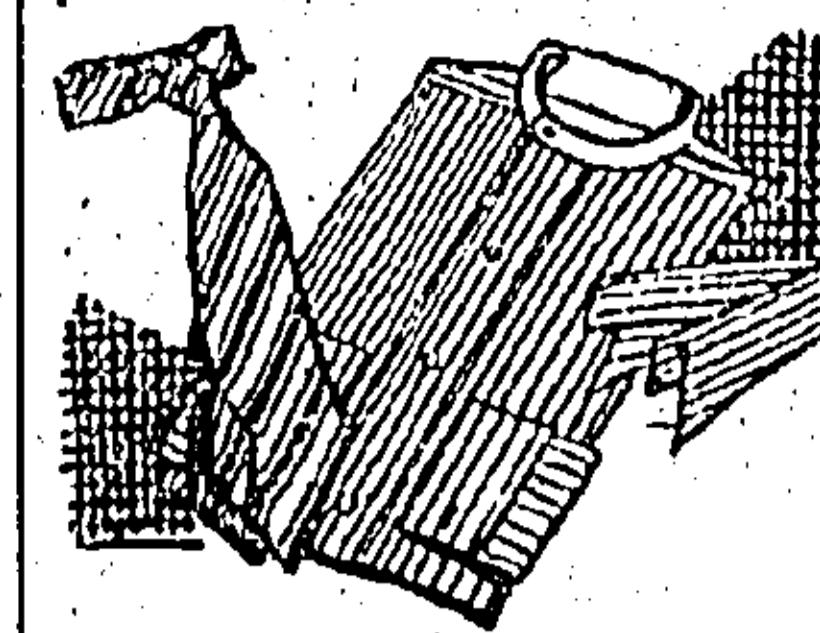

"A dead man!" chipped in Mr. Gridle, excitedly. "Good heaven! What's behind all this? Morley, I think we'd better get on board."

"Not both of you," replied Leonard. "One of you must stay in the boat. No, it's no one you know, Miss Fyne," he added quickly, as he caught her expression. "Don't worry."

Despite his age, Mr. Gridle swung himself up to the deck, and demanded to be taken to the place

Here are two aftermath scenes, following the tragic holocaust in Los Angeles in which 52 men burned to death and scores injured in a brush fire trap. Above, emergency workers attending injured and keeping dead bodies while awaiting ambulances. Below, two badly burned victims in a hospital.

Los Angeles, wakened the other morning to find its bed being jarred by an earthquake shock, which injured a few persons, but confined damage mainly to broken windows and falling chimneys. Above: Masonry in front of old police station, which was being razed. Two cars were crushed and a woman injured here.

GREAT DEMAND.—The newly started French National Lottery has had a great success as well in France as abroad. On the first day of sale it was by midday practically impossible to purchase tickets. Our picture shows two "forians" hunters purchasing their tickets in a tobacconist's shop.

A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM.
This is a condition (or disease) to which many are subject, and it is almost unknown—a break down as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its cause, the result is the same—namely, a condition of the same, the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for work, and the like. This condition is especially prevalent in all such cases as increased vitality—vigor, will strength and energy to throw off these morbid feelings, and an increased sense of well-being, which is usually secured by a course of

POLICE RESERVE.

CHINESE CONCERT AT KING'S THEATRE

Under the distinguished patronage of the Honourable Inspector General of Police, Mr. E.D.C. Wolfe, C.M.G., the Chinese Company of the Police Reserve will give a Chinese variety entertainment at the King's Theatre on Thursday at 9:00 p.m., at which His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel, and Lady Peel have kindly consented to be present.

The Chinese Company was formed in 1927, being the first unit of the Police Reserve to come into being. Starting with twenty odd members, the Company has grown by leaps and bounds to the present strength of one hundred.

Apart from the issue of uniforms and equipment by the Government, the Company itself has to bear a heavy expenditure such as rental of the Headquarters' premises and other expenses which are at present defrayed by Finance Committee consisting of the Hon. Dr. S. W. Ts'io, the Hon. Mr. T.N. Chau, Messrs. Li-Yau-tsui, Kwok Shulau, Chan-Lim-pak, Ngan Shing-kwan, Loung Pat-yue, Chau Tung-sang, Mok Kon-sang, Tang Shiu-kin, Li Sing-kui and P. H. Sin.

This is the first occasion on which a Chinese performance has been staged at the King's Theatre. There will be a long and varied programme and an enjoyable and novel experience is in store for the audience.

Mr. and Mrs. Sit Kok-sin, well-known artists on both the stage and screen, together with other accomplished amateurs, will take part in the performance. An excellent opportunity will thus be afforded to the European community of the Colony to see and hear the best of Chinese play and music, in the most ideal surroundings.

It is hardly necessary to enlarge upon the important position occupied by the Chinese Company in the Police Reserve, and it is hoped that the public will give the

LEAGUE INTERVENTION IN DANZIG

Varsovia, Nov. 5. The League of Nations' High Commissioner for Danzig, M. Rosling, has requested that a meeting of the League Council be called to discuss the constitutionality of the action of the Danzig police in suspending two Danzig newspapers for publishing the speech of the Vice-President of the Senate, Herr Greiser, in which he instructed that the Danzig police must hold Nazi opinions.

M. Rosling asked the President of the Danzig Senate, Herr Rauschning, to revoke the suspension, but Herr Rauschning refused and declared that if the order were not obeyed, he would order the imprisonment of the complainants in the ground that their action had endangered the security of the Free City.

The Labour-Socialist Association of Danzig has also protested to M. Rosling against its dissolution by the police on the ground that it was endangering the security of the city.—Reuter.

FUNING TAKEN

ARTILLERY CREATES AWFUL HAVOC

Peking, Nov. 5. After a night of very severe fighting, in which the recently arrived heavy artillery played havoc with the bandit defenders, the Chinese Special Police force recaptured Funing this morning, according to a despatch from Chinese sources.

Almost half of the 1,500 defenders of Funing are reported to have been either killed or wounded, the rest escaping to the hills.

It is generally believed in China, circles here that the bandit situation in Lunting is settled with the capture of Funing.

There has been fighting about the city for several weeks past, and losses on both sides have been considerable.—Reuter.

INNOCENT VICTIMS.

Tientsin, Nov. 5. The city of Funing was at last surrendered to the Chinese Special Police by the bandits following an intensive bombardment of the city last night.

Before their surrender, the bandits placed a large number of innocent inhabitants of the city, including some aged men, on the top of the city wall as a means to impel the Police to suspend their artillery fire.

Now the city is strewn with the dead, bandits and innocent inhabitants.

The Chinese authorities are taking emergency measures for the rehabilitation of the city which has been in the grip of the bandits for a considerable time.—Central News Agency.

JAPANESE WITHDRAW.

Peking, Nov. 5. Japanese troops at the district of Melyun have completely withdrawn, handing over control of the district to the Chinese police force. The Chinese police are also prepared to take over control of Shihacheng.—Central News Agency.

DRIVE ON REDS.

Teng Hsi-hou Urged To Attack.

Nanking, Nov. 5. The Commander-in-Chief of the Communist suppression forces paid a flying visit to Chengtu for the purpose of urging Teng Hsi-hou to launch an immediate drive against the Communists from the southwest.

Yang Sen's forces are operating from the same direction and are reported to be advancing towards Yiling after having re-taken Yinsun, about ninety miles due north of Chungking.—Reuter.

CUT IN IMPORTS.

HEAVY BACON PRODUCTION IN ENGLAND

London, Nov. 4. The Minister of Agriculture, Major Walter E. Elliott stated last night that the 16 per cent. cut in bacon imports would be in full operation within a week.

He said it had not been expected that any further reductions of substantial proportions would have been necessary before next March, but the unexpected had happened and this further reduction of foreign supplies had been necessitated by a large increase in home productions.

The volume of contracts totalled up to 620,000 pigs to be delivered to bacon factories between November and February—a figure which was a 70 per cent. increase on the level at this time last year. This level of home production was far in advance of almost any estimate.—British Wireless.

EMPIRE SHIPPING CONFERENCE.

BRITISH CARGOES FOR BRITISH SHIPS

London, Nov. 4. An All-Empire Conference will meet in London early in 1934 to preserve the Empire's cargoes for Empire ships, says the Daily Express.

An organising committee is being formed and invitations will be despatched to the representative shipping interests in the Dominions and the Colonies, this month.

Later.

It is learned in the most authoritative shipping circles that it is too early to say when the shipping conference will definitely meet, but there is a strong feeling in many quarters that such a conference is the only solution to the shipping crisis.—Reuter.

GUERRILLA WAR.

SIAM FACES FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES

Singapore, Nov. 4. Guerrilla fighting is being carried on in north-east Siam against insurgents, according to a Bangkok message, delayed by the censors.

The revolt, up to the present, has caused damage estimated at several million taels and is severely affecting the Administration, which is already faced with financial difficulties.

The Siamese Army has successfully exploited mechanised, traction, aeroplanes and wireless in the present operations.—Reuter.

"SHADOWS BY THE SEA"

where the dead man lay. Morley was perfectly contented to remain in the boat, and offered no protest while the three other men embarked on their short, lugubrious journey. He took advantage of the opportunity to light a much-needed cigarette.

"What's wrong with passing them round?" asked Beryl Haines. "You're not the only one who feels nervous."

Meanwhile, Mr. Griddle was viewing the body. He stared at it long and earnestly, then turned to Leonard with a grunt.

"Well, what do you make of it?" he enquired shortly. "Anything?"

"Precious little," answered Leonard. "I think we'll let the police do the guessing."

"The police? Yes, of course. They'll have to be notified in the morning."

"They'll have to be notified before the morning," replied Leonard, quietly. "They'll have to be notified to-night."

Mr. Griddle frowned. "They can't do anything to-night."

"Very likely not, but I think we must give them the chance."

"They'll be most grateful, if I know anything about them," retorted Mr. Griddle, sarcastically. "Any way, we can't notify them to-night. The phone won't work."

"The phone won't be necessary. I shall walk to the station."

"It's three miles."

"That's a nuisance, but it can't be helped."

Mr. Griddle's frown grew.

"I say, you're taking rather a lot on to yourself, aren't you?" he remarked. "I'm inclined to think this is really a position for a round-table discussion."

"But, good Lord, sir," broke in Napoleon, who had listened to this odd duel with considerable interest, "is there really anything to discuss you know? We find a dead man, and Guy Haines has disappeared—"

"And you think it will help matters to rush off and inform the police? Well, you may be right. But, damny, it's not hard to guess what conclusion the police will come to!"

"What conclusion will they come to?" asked Leonard.

"They will come to the conclusion which is obvious when one man is found dead and another disappears."

Napoleon was about to make a heated remark when Leonard stopped him with a look.

"Is that your conclusion, Mr. Griddle?" he enquired.

"I have formed no conclusion—yet," responded the old man. "The fact remains, however, that Guy Haines has vanished at a most inopportune moment, and that the telephone wires have been cut. That is why it seems to me that we should not rush matters, but should only act after careful discussion. Once we let the police in, you see, they will be wretchedly curious—and they may even want to know how it is that you, Mr. Trueblood, brought a revolver with you on this rather odd journey of yours. Of course," added Mr. Griddle, with a sour smile, "some interest attaches to this lunatic who appears to have been on the wreck when you arrived. But the police are funny about people who are merely described to them, and whom they do not see with their own eyes."

"By Jove, that's true!" murmured Leonard, and Napoleon stared at him. "You may be correct, after all, Mr. Griddle. ... However, I vote we return to the boat now and get back to the hotel. I'm fed up with this old hulk, and want a change of scene."

As they retraced their steps, the old man trotting ahead, Napoleon plucked Leonard's arm and whispered:

"I say, aren't you going for the police?"

"Of course, I am," Leonard whispered back; "but Griddle seems so anxious for me not to that perhaps there's no need to let him know?"

INFLATION DEMAND

Signs of hesitancy in the upward trend of business in the United States have aroused renewed demand for extreme inflationary measures. No new legislation is necessary to produce the promised increase in price level, but the discussion of governmental inflationary measures, such as the issue of flat money, to meet government expenditures, creates uneasiness which tends to defeat the programme of recovery. A constructive monetary policy for the next few months would consist in the encouragement of the expansion of credit at a rate somewhat greater than the rate of expansion of production. It is in this manner alone that a strong upward trend in prices may be fostered, a trend which may be kept within control when the desired level has once been attained. In reality, the remarkable recovery since March, perhaps the greatest reversal in trend in the history of the United States, has been financed by a more rapid turnover, or increased velocity, of the funds already available and by the funds which have come out of hoarding in response to the growth in confidence. A price recovery is essential to the success of the NRA. A programme designed to achieve higher prices was announced as an integral part of the plan of recovery. Industry cannot support considerably increased costs if prices do not keep pace. The policies of the NRA—agricultural control, "buy now", and public works—cannot be successful if undertaken in opposition to the general monetary policy. This was shown by the experience of 1930. Yet the present period of hesitancy has made many groups in the United States feel that there has not been a sufficient rise in prices. They are demanding violent inflation and suggesting drastic remedies; this discussion has tended to undermine the confidence which was almost re-established. Under more normal financial conditions the measures which have been taken by the monetary authority on one or two occasions in the last year and a half, would have been adequate. The apparent failure of business to respond to the classical treatment of cheap money has been due to the fact that this remedy was not tried until the banking machinery of the United States has been seriously crippled and confidence gravely disturbed. To the extent that the banking machinery is not working smoothly, proportionately stronger methods must be employed by the central monetary authority. It is of supreme importance, however, that such measures should be of a reasonable character and

JOURNALISTIC "TIME-LAG"

In an address recently, G.B.S. took occasion gently to chide the press on its "time-lag". In economic terminology time-lag exists before retail prices can catch up with wholesale prices. A time-lag prevents wages from following the upward trend of prices. Mr. Shaw was thinking of the alleged inability of the press to keep up with him in recognizing the permanence or evanescence of political movements. The criticism was hardly fair. Nobody could be expected to look at events with the eye of history, because history can be written only with the help of perspective. It is true, as Mr. Shaw says, that the world press is accepting very slowly the fact of the Russian revolution. Here the charge of time-lagging may be sustained. The reason is that this is a series of revolutions not yet finished. Such social ferment must "settle" before one can pass judgment.

STATESMANSHP

The main determinant of history is, of course, statesmanship, and this is an imponderable. Many of the movements which have lately come to the fore are the result of a drifting attitude. If an economic federation had been created along the Danube, for instance, would we to-day have had the problem of Austria? Statesmen are arbiters who can change the drift just as easily as they allowed it to get under way. Certain events show that there are journalists who, far from suffering from time-lag, have such a sense of responsibility that they have taken time by the forelock. The inclusion of Far Eastern problems in the agenda of the Washington conference of 1921 may be traced to the journalistic vigour with which the dangerous situation in the Pacific was brought to the notice of the chancelleries. This illustration is but one of many which show the reverse of time-lag. Perhaps, indeed, the gift which Mr. Shaw claims uniquely for himself may be traceable to his prentice days in journalism!

In accord with normal banking practice so that when a set price level has once been achieved prices may be maintained at that level and further inflation prevented.

NOTES OF THE DAY

ROSITA FORBES asks

IS THERE A GREAT WOMAN?

U.S. NAVY ORDERS

Of course, there are outstanding personalities—one meets them in the slums and in country villages as well as in the limelight cast upon palaces and politics—but has any living woman made history? It is possible that two have done so. That first is a reigning queen and the second a revolutionary and a patriot—the terms are synonymous East of the Balkans—now in exile.

A few years ago, if one spoke about Bolshevism to the ordinary Dutchman, he was apt to reply, "You'll never get the red flag in a country where anyone can walk close up to the palace windows and see the Queen sewing in one of them." Recently, when Socialists threatened that same Queen, warned to withdraw from her front window, put on the equivalent of a Victorian bonnet and, in an open carriage, drove slowly through the crowds. They cheered her to the skies, and she took their applause so calmly as the protests of her Ministers.

Wilhelmina is the Victoria of Holland. She keeps a firm hand on the reins. Her country is her house, and she is so good a house-keeper that nobody is aware of her difficulties; yet just as Victoria became a symbol of empire, so her Dutch counterpart, who has no interest in society and who considers herself extravagant if a Royal visit forces her to order a couple of new dresses, is, in herself, Holland.

A WOMAN OF TURKEY.

The young Turkish girl, Khalida Khanum Edib, who became Mustapha Kemal's first Minister of Education, is the only other woman who has openly influenced the fate of a nation. Khalida was the only woman member of the revolutionary Committee of Union and Progress, which overthrew the Turkish Sultanate. She narrowly escaped arrest, first by Abdul Hamid and later by the Allies. Escaping to Anatolia she fought at the head of a Turkish battalion, and when the Greeks were driven out of Smyrna and Kemal was congratulating himself on having freed his country, she turned on the Dictator and told him "Turkey will never be free while her women are veiled."

Khalida, addressing revolutionary meetings in an attic overlooking a back street in Constantinople, with her face uncovered, was the first to protest against the veil, and it was her example and her influence, not Mustapha Kemal's edict, which made it possible for her countrywomen to discard it.

THEY ADORE HER.

Among the personalities who by reason of position and quality are called "great", Queen Marie of Rumania undoubtedly has a place. She "adores" being a queen and says so. She loves the opportunity it gives of making an effect, but, in spite of her exotic surroundings, her leopard skins and lapis lazuli, her trains and vials and crutches, she can make her enemies laugh with her not at her.

Whilst I was still hypnotised by her charm, her gaiety, her impulsive hospitality at Sinala, and by her hands, which must be the

The Very Idea!

"CELLULOIDY'S" REVIEWS A NEW FILM AT "RUO EMON"

"BUBSY" is the fifth picture made by Mr. Fred Wobble, of the Peak, since the purchase of his new camera, the "Homovie Fan." Other films in the same genre, of varying artistic merit, have been "Ickle Girlie," from the Kowloon studio of Mr. Woppledon-Brown, and the Mid Level half-reeler, "I Love 'Oo," which was produced under the joint direction of Mr. and Mrs. Glubb.

The star of "Bubsy" is again the producer's talented three-year-old Eric, the support being in the hands of Miss Ah Fat (amah) and Fogglies (Alredale). One might have wished for a more impressive cast as regards size. It will be recalled by local cinema-goers, who attended the premiere of "Ickle Girlie" in a body that, in the opus in question, there were no less than 27 featured players, including the veteran mime Mrs. Glubb, sen. (aged 87). Rev. Smith and his Sidesmen, and the Peak Hotel Cocktail Girls—a winsome and altogether refined beauty.

But to one's matutinal thoughts, the initial sequence of "Bubsy"—incorporating a delicious pastiche of the "Ruo Emoh" luvn, in which the shadows cast by the props and washing next door are handled with dexterous reticence and an exquisite and sure sense of subjective values—reveals Master Eric striking the slumbering Fogglies on the head with a toy train. All in instant action, recalling, in some sense, the spiritual effects achieved by the Russian Eisenstein in his epic silent "Potemkin." Fogglies gyrates in agony; Miss Ah Fat rushes forward, casting aside her sowing en route; Eric, greatly daring, poised his toy for another blow.

One gets here, in an acute degree, the atmosphere of brooding suspense, of fateful waiting, which is to be found in the more thoughtful foreign films, and notably in those of Pabst. Would that such works were screened in Hongkong, from time to time, in place of the vulgarisms and ineptitudes of Hollywood!

Pogglies, as has been said, is in imminent peril of another blow; his teeth are bared in the manner of one whose patience is at an end; the devoted amah is rushing to the rescue of her reckless charge when the action comes to a dramatically sudden end. One understands that at this stage the operator fell over the instrument in his excitement.

The star acted with his customary naturalism, and Fogglies provided a sincere if somewhat over-emotional study. By comparison, Miss Ah Fat's interpretation was gaunt, stiff, amateurish. "Bubsy," a Fred Wobble production, was screened for the first time on the dining-room at "Ruo Emoh" on Sunday night, immediately after the Vicar had been got rid of.

Suggestions to Worms that May Be Caught in Apples.

Don't admit anything. Stand upon your constitutional rights. Get in touch with a good lawyer and build up a defense that will enable you to secure an acquittal.

Any one of these should get you off:

1. Insist that you have always suffered an apple complex. Tell how you couldn't get near an apple without experiencing a queer, irresponsible desire to crawl into it.

2. Contend that you entered the apple in self-defence, having good reason to believe that if you did not attack it, the apple would have attacked you.

3. Deny you were anywhere near the apple, and produce half a dozen witnesses who will swear you were sleeping in an ear of corn at the time of your alleged trespassing.

4. Plead that you were out of work and merely crawled into the apple for shelter during the night and overslept the next morning.

5. Explain that you were in the apple only in the capacity of an unofficial observer while other worms were eating it. Refuse to squelch on the others.

TYphoon's Toll

HEAVY DAMAGE IN ANNAM

THIRTY KILLED

Paris, Nov. 5. It is learned from Hanoi that the typhoon which swept in rapidly from the Pacific, across the Philippines and into the Gulf of Tongking, struck the coast of Annam with extreme violence.

Considerable damage has been done and (says Reuter) thirty deaths have to be included in its toll.

Another story of devastation by the typhoon comes from Palawan, where extensive damage was done. A devastating flood followed in the wake of the storm, sweeping through the Iwahig penal colony.

One prisoner, C. A. Faustino, was drowned in the flood. The typhoon and flood wrought havoc to buildings and crops. A telegraphic report on the damage caused by the typhoon was sent to the director of prisons by Captain E. Misa, superintendent of Iwahig penal colony.

SIX FEET OF WATER. The typhoon destroyed lines of communications, he reported, resulting in lack of reports from points inland. Exhibits in the carnival were among the articles washed away by the flood. The water rose at points to a height of six feet, destroying levees and five large bridges.

The entire colony is now busy removing the debris left by the flood. Heavy loss of life, including women and children, was averted through the heroic efforts of employees and colonists. The water supply system was destroyed as well as thousands of coconut trees.

Captain Misa's report to the director of prisons, reads as follows: "A devastating flood swept over the colony. Twenty kilometres of the provincial road, five large bridges, the Bacayo oil soap factories, the water supply system and numerous concrete and dirt levees were destroyed. Communications were interrupted, and reports are incomplete."

HEAVY DAMAGE.

"Thousands of coconut trees, banana plants, bauhinia trees, hundreds of fruit trees, cubos, privately owned domestic animals, portion of the palay crop, copra and some government equipment and supplies were lost."

"Quinina was under six feet of water. Logs, lumber, furniture and articles in the carnival exhibits were washed away."

"The Zabat family moved from their residence by launch. Heavy toll in life, women and children, was averted through the heroic efforts of employees and colonists. No news from Ingawan and distant outstations."

PUBLIC WORKS HIT.

The typhoon wrought extensive damage to property, houses, public works and crops in the Visayas. One person was killed in Panglao, Bohol.

The governor of Bohol reported that 18 houses in the town of Panglao alone were completely destroyed by the storm and at least 20 others were partially destroyed.

The Mambajao wharf in Oriental Misamis and the shed under construction there were badly damaged. Many sections of the provincial roads were washed away, rendering the roads impassable in many places throughout the province.

All lines of communication in Bohol, except those in Tagbilaran, are down, as are all lines in Oriental Negros save those in its capital. Capiz and Bulacan also reported heavy destruction to property and communications.

OUTBREAK FEARED IN SAAR

REPRESSION DECREE ISSUED

Saarbrücken, Nov. 3. The League of Nations commission governing the Saar basin has issued a repression decree, due to Nazi demands for the return of the basin to Germany.

The population was so inflamed by developments that French authorities fear an outbreak which will cause trouble between France and Germany.

The decree included an increase in prison fines for carrying arms, and restricted the display of flags and political activities.

The Saar basin is to hold a plebiscite in 1935 to determine whether it will continue in its present status under the League, revert to Germany or go to France. With this highly controversial question impending, the League commission has a difficult task in keeping the peace, particularly in view of the now aggressiveness of the Nazis.

HEALTH EXHIBITION

INSTRUCTION FOR SCHOOLCHILDREN

OPENED TO-DAY

A two days' Health Exhibition was opened by the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services (the Hon. Dr. A. R. Wellington) in the Great Hall of the Ellis Kadourie School at Hospital Road this morning.

Organized by the Medical Officers of the Education Department, the Exhibition is primarily for the purpose of teaching schoolchildren the elements of health and sanitation; and the exhibits therefore were reduced to the greatest simplicity, being designed and arranged in such a manner as most likely to provoke interest and inquiry. Charts and illustrations necessarily play a major part in the demonstration.

PERSONAL HABITS.

The care of the teeth as an integral part of personal cleanliness was given, a prominent place in the Exhibition, and pride of position was conferred on the time-honoured apple for its health-giving properties. The dangers of eating exposed food, cut fruit and wholly polished rice were also well illustrated; so was the beneficial action of sunlight on the body.

While providing an interesting instruction for the pupils from a number of schools, the promoters have also an eye on other matters concerning which a large proportion of the population are commonly at fault, and a number of charts and illustrations exhibited on the subject of consumption, malaria, eye and ear diseases, and the care of the baby, should prove of the utmost value.

TO-MORROW'S PROGRAMME.

The Exhibition is being continued to-morrow, when a programme is to be repeated comprising talks by Drs. Wong Hok-nin and Au King respectively on "Health Habits" and "Infection," and discussions by Nurse Sham on "Tuberculosis" and "Health in Schoolchildren." A play is also being staged by the pupils of the Bellios Public School under the direction of the Misses Lopes and Fok, in which the principal points in the preservation of health are cleverly brought out.

In declaring the Exhibition open this morning, the Hon. Dr. Wellington voiced an appreciation of the able services of Mr. J. Rulston, the Principal of the Ellis Kadourie School, towards the demonstration.

The Director of Education (Hon. Mr. N. L. Smith) presided at the opening.

RIDING IN STATE. With a highly developed sense of advertisement, she would ride

UNLICENSED ACTORS

POLICE PUT STOP TO PERFORMANCE

SWINDLE ALLEGED

The performance of a group of Chinese actors was nipped in the bud when the police visited No. 126, Johnston Road, 3rd floor, and took ten of them into custody last night.

They were charged before Mr. E. W. Hamilton, at the Central Magistrate this morning, with having used the premises for public entertainment without a licence, and without a permit from the S.C.A. or the I.G.P.

The first defendant, Chung Hau, an actor, was convicted and fined $100 or in default two months imprisonment, while the others were discharged.

The defendants included a blacksmith, Chung Hin-sang, three unemployed, Lai Sui-cho, Chan Ming and Cheung Po, an unemployed seamstress, Kong Yuen-sang, a boiler maker, Leung Sing, an unemployed hotel boy, Fung Wing, and two spinster, Chan Kung and Chan Moi.

The second defendant, Chung Hin-sang, acted as the spokesman of the party, and said that three years ago they had sent a petition to the S.C.A. from 119, Queen's Road, West, and had received a reply that they could put up a signboard. They had also petitioned to the S.C.A. after their removal to Johnston Road, and were told that they could put up the signboard, but were not given a written permit.

Sub-Inspector Elston said that three years ago a number of dock-yard employees had formed a club called the Sing Sing Kit Sze to engage in amateur theatricals. No permission was given them, as it was not necessary. Now they were accused of running one without a licence. They held performances four times a week, and the average attendance was about hundred persons.

FITTED UP AS A THEATRE.

Inspector Elston said that at 8.45 p.m. yesterday he went to the 3rd floor of 126, Johnston Road. The floor was fitted up as a theatre, and he counted 132 adults and many children. They were watching a performance on a raised platform. Six of the defendants were in fancy costumes, and some were acting. An orchestra of Chinese violins was on the stage. The second defendant was acting as an interpreter, and the third defendant, Lai Sui-cho, was representing the King's daughter in the play. The two female defendants said they were soldiers. The actors pointed out the first defendant as being in charge of the floor. They said that their chairman was in Canton.

The first defendant, Chung Hau, said that they received contributions but were not selling tickets of admission. The spectators were all friends of the actors. They had permission from the S.C.A. to hold amateur theatricals at 119, Queen's Road, West, three years ago, but not after removal.

SWINDLE.

Inspector Elston added that in this case the police suggested a swindle. The actors and actresses were secured for nothing to be trained, and behind their backs the principals sold tickets.

Mr. Hamilton convicted the first defendant, because he had admitted he was in charge, and warned the others.

Inspector Elston said that the first defendant was an actor in Canton, and came to Hongkong and started a school for actors.

through the city in state on her favourite horse, dressed in a brilliant costume which included a sombrero, an open-necked shirt and white cowboy trousers. On such occasions she acted as mounted escort to a motorcoach of her cabaret girls—her "kids," as she called them. She never tasted alcoholic liquor herself, but she provided it for her "guests" which led to trouble with the authorities. On one occasion when Prohibition agents paid surprise visit to one of her clubs after she had gone to bed she got through a trap-door in her pyjamas and led them a long chase over the roofs before she was captured.

FOOTBALL
READING'S FIRST
AWAY WIN
POMPEY'S FEAT

(By "The Pilgrim")

The International match at Belfast concluded with drawn honours, each side scoring one goal, though it should be said that Wales were extremely unlucky not to win after leading by one goal at the interval.

Wales were weakened through the refusal of English clubs to release their best players, but were the more impressive team of the two. Their forwards were clever but good work was spoiled by weak shooting.

The Irish defence excelled against a strong attack.

Grover, the Welsh centre-forward, was outstanding, but missed a chance to score in the opening minute. However, he atoned for his lapse in the fifth minute, when his netted while the defenders were appealing for offside.

After the resumption, Ireland played with determination. The Welsh defence was uncertain under severe pressure. S. Jones equalised ten minutes after the restart. There was a gate of 20,000.

31 CORRECT RESULTS.

League football is now running more true to form and forecasters have a happier time of it. I was lucky enough to pick 31 results which I hope did somebody some good.

Tottenham remain unshaken on their pedestal and show neither the faltering of Stoke who lost heavily to a much improved Middlesbrough or the uncertainty of the Arsenal who again failed to bring off a coup at Highbury. This time they had very bad luck however, the visitors' only goal being scored by N. W. Sidney, the Arsenal defender who accidentally tapped the ball through whilst Moss was hesitating in the goal-mouth. There was a groan from a great section of the 65,000 people when the ball rolled over the line.

In defeating West Bromwich Albion, the Spurs deprived that ambitious club of its unbeaten home record and gained a two points lead at the head of the table.

That veteran favourite, J. Smith was responsible for Huddersfield's great victory over Everton at Goodison Park and enabled his club to draw level with Arsenal in the second position.

Bolton's task at Southampton was difficult enough in any event and with injuries incapacitating temporarily several players, they did well to lose by so small a margin.

READING'S FIRST AWAY.

Bury improved themselves at the leader's cost, the Hammers scoring one in reply to a brace. The United showed good form at Craven Cottage, taking the points with two goals to which Fulham could find no reply.

Reading and Watford brought off the best performances in the Southern section, the first-named drawing up to third place with a win at Northampton and the second taking another step from the bottom at Torquay's expense. The invincible Chesterfield damped Rotherham's ardour by a 3-1 win whilst Stockport ran wild to hit the inside of the net nine times against Southport. Tranmere were not expected to win at York and they slipped down a place in the table.

Motherwell are still scraping home by the odd goal and they brought off an away victory against Dundee by 3-2 which leaves their supremacy still practically unchallenged. Rangers have settled down to serious football and will be on their heels at the first slip I think.

TACTICS AT FAULT

Football text-book.

Beltrao played quite a useful part in holding up the opposing forwards, though it struck me he was not so effective after he had discarded his beret. These idiosyncrasies such as wearing berets, chewing gum, playing with shirt sleeves rolled up or left hanging down have an astonishing psychological influence.

Horrota wouldn't think of going onto the court without his beret, and J.D. Rumjahn always gives the impression of a jolting form when he discards his.

Anyhow, Beltrao's best work was performed during the first twenty minutes. After that time he threw away his skull cap.

The Saints were certainly solid in defence. Gossano, constantly jumping in, where perhaps angles would have feared to tread, repeatedly spoilt the Artillery movements.

Gossano, less burdened because the ball was not half so much over his side of the field, was steady and covered Gossano in reliable style.

Behind these two was Marques, who still has claims to being the best goalkeeper in the league. He was blameless for the goals which were scored against him and more than once

FRIENDLY CRICKET.

Malayan Interporters
In Action.

GILL IMPRESSIVE.

Two Malayan Interporters were seen in action in the friendly cricket match between the Indian R. C. and the University at Peklum on Saturday which resulted in a draw. They were W. O. Jonklaas and B. S. Gill, who both made good impression.

Gill played for the Indians, and was undefeated with 38 runs, when the innings was declared closed at 142 for 6 wickets. F. D. Pereira reached the boundary on four occasions in making 18, after which he retired, and A. H. Rumjahn played steadily for 16.

At close of play the University had lost nine wickets for 102 runs, towards which Jonklaas contributed 26 and E. L. Gosano 20. Jonklaas showed himself to be very hard hitter, and on three occasions lifted A. R. Minu's bowling out of the ground. He was completely at sea when facing Pereira, and was eventually bowled by that bowler. Pereira claimed three wickets for 14 runs, and A. K. Ismail, the I. R. C. left-hander, captured four wickets for 14 runs. Ismail bowled very well indeed, and kept a good length.

Kowloon v. Royal Navy. The Kowloon Cricket Club engaged the Royal Navy in a friendly at King's Park, and were defeated by seven wickets, after declaring their innings closed at 136 runs for nine wickets.

The principal scorers for Kowloon were Lt. C. C. Garthwaite (28), N. A. E. MacKay (23) and A. T. Lay (22). Richards captured 6 wickets for 28 runs.

The Navy totalled 130 runs for four wickets, Lt. Eaden being top scorer with 12 runs not out, and Lt.-Cdr. Carver claiming 30. Lt. Larkin 33 runs.

Hongkong Club v. Medical Corps.

The Hongkong Cricket Club second eleven gained an easy victory over the Royal Army Medical Corps at Sookkum, winning by 112 runs. The Club totalled 167 runs for seven wickets, and declared. A. K. MacKenzie contributing 28 and R. S. W. Patterson 57 runs. The military side were dismissed for 46, A. D. Lowson doing the damage with six wickets for 10, and E. Smith claiming four wickets for 21.

Kowloon Juniors v. Civil Service.

The Kowloon Cricket Club second eleven played a drawn match with the Civil Service on their own ground. The Civil Servants were dismissed for 110 runs, W. Hyde taking four wickets for 24. J. F. McGowan was the chief scorer with 30.

Kowloon scored 116 for five wickets when stumps were drawn. S. Jex was undefeated with 57, and D. S. Green followed with 35. R. A. J. Simpson captured four wickets for 22.

St. Joseph's v. Recreio.

At King's Park, the Club de Recreio suffered St. Joseph's College by 92. Recreio batted first and scored 133 runs for eight wickets, before declaring. W. A. Reed Scored 20 and E. Soares 35. The Josephines were dismissed for only 11, of which C. Amor scored six. P. M. N. da Silva captured three wickets for seven and C. L. Lopes six wickets for four.

FIRST OF SEASON.

Don Bradman Scores Double Century At Brisbane.

Brisbane, Nov. 4.

D. G. Bradman, the Bowral cricketer, scored 200 runs in his first innings of the season when playing for New South Wales against Queensland in the Sheffield Shield match here.

Bradman played scintillating cricket and was at the crease for 184 minutes in compiling his runs which included 26 boundary hits.—Straker.

M.C.C. WIN MATCH.

Lahore, Nov. 5.

The M.C.C. tourists defeated Northern India to-day by an innings and 156 runs.

Northern India scored only 53 in their first knock. Clark taking four for seven and Marriott four for 20. In their second stand, the Indian eleven scored 65, Marriott taking three for 20 and Langridge three for 12. Human took two wickets for no runs.

The M. C. C. replied with 246 for 7, declared. Mitchell scored 54 and Townsend 50.—Straker.

cleared from very threatening situation.

Against the Play

Leonard gave the Saints the lead with a glorious shot, but the Artillery were the quicker to settle down to concerted effort, and after Greenhields had hit the cross bar with Marques beaten to the wide, and had sent the goalkeeper sprawling across the line after a ball which just missed the upright, Soal, crowned a useful piece of work on the wing with a perfect angle shot which found the picket angle, shot which found the picket angle.

The Artillery should have lead at the interval instead of sharing two goals.

It was more or less against the run of the play that St. Joseph's took the lead again, and increased it to 2-1 before Leach scrambled home his second and the Saints' fourth goal.

But Ward made certain of the issue, catching the Artillery vanguard napping and going through to net his second and the Saints' fourth goal.

I really know nothing about Red-

Bertie Guest Returns To Hockey

PLAYS FINE GAME FOR SAINTS

A. E. P. Guest returned to active hockey yesterday morning and played a great skipper's game at centre-half for the St. Andrew's Club against the Kowloon Intime Tennis Club in a friendly hockey match on the K.H.S.R.A. ground. The Saints won by three goals to nil, the score at half-time being blank.

Rain fell during the game but no stop was made. Naidu played a good defence game at back for the Indians, while Fred Broadbridge was again steady at right back. The Saints' forward line combined better in the second half when Ernie Fincher found the net once and Bliss twice. G. A. White did good work on the right wing showing marked improvement.

C.B.A. WIN AGAIN.

In a friendly hockey fixture played in the home ground, King's Park yesterday morning the C.B.A. defeated the German Club by three goals to nil. C. C. Francis was the marksman on all three occasions.

EQUALS OLD MARK.

Huge Crowd Watches Richards' Ride.

A COINCIDENCE.

London, Nov. 5. A tremendously enthusiastic crowd saw Gordon Richards ride his 24th winner of the season to-day.

The dense throng at Hurst Park races may have been disappointed, for everyone expected Richards to break the record of Fred Archer, who has stood for fifty years. Richards did not equalled it, though he had six mounts. He rode only one winner.

Richards resumes his riding at Liverpool on November 11, however, and by a strange coincidence may establish the new season's record on that day, the forty-seventh anniversary of Archer's death. He needs one winner at Liverpool to set a well-nigh unbeatable mark.—Reuter.

London, Nov. 5. The team which had perhaps done not quite so well, but very nearly. Last year both their teams had won the League, and this season, he was glad to say the second team had managed to do it again. The first team did not win, but gave the winners a good fight. Their first team had, however, won the shield outright three years in succession, and the second team now had two wins in succession. He hoped they would do it again next year (Applause).

With regard to the Tennis, he thought they were doing better, and Mr. Howard seemed to be pulling the team together quite well. In conclusion Mr. Bradbury thanked the ladies of the Club for the work they had accomplished in the interest of the Club.

The London paper further states that in an interview Miss Wethered has refused to confirm or deny the report in the above statement and says that her plans for the future are indefinite.	The Daily Mirror's information is that she contemplates playing exhibition matches throughout the country—Reuter.

YACHTING OPENS.

Local Club Holds Regatta In Brilliant Weather.

ROWING AND FENCING.

The Royal Hongkong Yacht Club's winter activities were given an enthusiastic welcome on Saturday when the opening regatta was attended by brilliant weather and a large gathering of spectators.

Conditions for sailing were more favourable than for rowing, although the oarsmen were not unduly troubled by the weather. The water, rough during the earlier part of the afternoon improved when the later races were being contested.

It had been arranged that two lawn bowls rinks be played during the afternoon, but the match had to be cancelled on account of difficulty of raising a sufficient number of players.

Prior to the conclusion of the day's entertainment a fencing exhibition was given by members of the Hongkong Fencing Club which is attached to the Royal Hongkong Yacht Club. Spectators were enabled to follow the exhibition more closely through a running commentary explaining each movement, given by Lieut. Com. W. A. Whitaker, of H.M.S. Suffolk, who acted as referee.

Those who took part in the exhibition were:—Folks, Capt. F. S. M. Wilkinson and F. J. T. Locke; Epe, F. J. T. Locke and Mons. Meunier; Sabre, Capt. P. S. M. Wilkinson and B. M. Veliki.

Mr. H. S. Roule, Vice-Commander of the Club, asked Mrs. F. Elliot to give away the prizes. Mrs. Roule mentioned that their Commodore, Mr. A. Shields, although indisposed, had attended the function against his doctor's orders.

Commenting upon the racing, the speaker congratulated the crews on the way the boats were handled and mentioned that there had been some very close finishes. Youth had triumphed in rowing, but he thought that the Ewo crew could do better next year with more practice.

After Mrs. Elliot had distributed the prizes she was the recipient of a bouquet of flowers from Miss Eleanor Hallion.

The results of the afternoon's racing were:

BOMBINGS, SHOOTING AND SABOTAGE IN AMERICA

NEW YORK STOCKS

MIXED BUSINESS NEWS

CLOUDED PICTURE

New York, Nov. 4. The Stock Market was decidedly dull to-day and other than the usual week-end sell-off, displayed no pronounced tendency either one way or the other. The public apparently does not understand the policy of foreign gold purchases pursued by the Administration and is at present awaiting developments.

December Silver was quite strong for most of the session but met with profit-taking on the upside and closed below the high for the day but 46 points above its price at the close of the previous session. December Rubber was also strong—closing up 25 points. Wheat and Cotton were steady but closed slightly off.

Business news is mixed. Retail buying is responding to the usual seasonal influences as the Christmas holidays draw near, but industrial output, influenced in part no doubt by currency uncertainties is receding slightly against the usual seasonal trend.

More favourable third quarter earnings are being reported and a gradual increase in size and breadth of dividend payments is expected next year.

MONETARY DOUBTS.

Monetary uncertainties are clouding the entire picture and the struggle between the proponents of currency inflation and their opponents is being closely followed by traders and investors.

Reliable sources of information continued to advise against the purchase of gilt-edged bonds but they consider that the buying of second grade issues is advisable for those who want an adequate return on their invested capital with the probability of appreciation of principal. Per Swan, Culbertson and Fritz.

LORRY WRECKED

ANOTHER MISHAP IN BANK DEMOLITION

One of the huge pillars which graced the entrance of the old premises of the Bank, wrecked a new Ford Lorry belonging to the Yee Sang Tai Firm yesterday.

The lorry was stationary in Wardley Street.

A huge pillar consisting of a number of cylindrical pieces of granite held together by cement, was being lifted by a crane when a portion of it fell and dropped upon the lorry at a point near the driver's seat, almost cutting the vehicle into two.

Fortunately there was no one in or near the lorry at the time.

JAPANESE PRINCESS PASSES AWAY

Tokyo Court in Mourning

Tokyo, Nov. 3. Princess Nobuko Asaka, aunt of Emperor Hirohito, died early to-day.

She married Prince Asaka May 9, 1910.

The Emperor and his family went into a 20-day period of mourning.

To-day's state banquet was cancelled while ritualists performed the Washido Dokoro ceremonies. Emperor Hirohito will remain in seclusion.

POLICE RESERVIST GIVES CHASE

THIEF CAUGHT IN A CUL DE SAC

After snatching twenty cents from a cigarette stall in Tank Lane, an unemployed Chinese found himself in a cul de sac. He was chased by a Police Reservist, Yung Shiu-chung, and was trapped by a district watchman coming in the opposite direction.

Defendant appeared before Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court this morning, when he pleaded guilty and was bound over.

150 POLICE SEARCH ALL NIGHT

For Englishwoman's False Teeth

Belgrade, Nov. 4. Fifty Yugoslav gendarmes and a hundred special police have spent an entire night searching for two sets of false teeth which were stolen from an English woman journalist.

The lady, who is travelling correspondent for a London paper, had an appointment with King Zog of Albania. How could she see him without her teeth?

The Belgrade Chief of Police and the Minister of the Interior gave orders to the police to find the teeth "or die in the attempt."

Hundreds of peasants were arrested, hundreds of others were cross-examined. The teeth were recovered within 36 hours and the lady kept her appointment.

THE STORY.

Here is the story: Miss "X" who drives about Europe interviewing monarchs and dictators, came one night to the banks of the Danube near Panchevo and tried to cross to Belgrade.

Her car stuck in the mud. She hired peasants and a team of horses to pull it out. But she had no Yugoslav dinars and the peasants had no use for English currency.

Finally it was arranged that one of the peasants should accompany Miss "X" to Belgrade. But when they reached the city it was found that Miss "X"'s trunk had been cut from the luggage carrier at the back of the car.

The whole police system of the country was set in motion. Within a few hours everything had been recovered except the two sets of teeth—one gold and one platinum. Then it was the real hunt begun.—Reuter.

MASS CHRISTENING.

ITALIAN BABIES RECEIVE BAPTISM AT ST. PETER'S

Rome, Nov. 5.

Following the successful mass wedding on October 30 when over 2,000 couples were married at dawn, in celebration of the Fasul Marriage Festival, a mass christening was held this evening.

Over 40 babies were christened at St. Peter's, after which an official reception was held, when each child was given a baby outfit from Mussolini and a medal from the Pope.—Reuter.

The marriage festival was arranged to counteract the severe decline in the Italian birth rate. Each couple married received a photograph of Mussolini and a gift of 500 lire, presented by the Fascist Party.

STOLE DOORS FROM HOUSES

DETECTIVE CATCHES MEN SAWING THEM UP

Prosecuting two Chinese for stealing, Detective-Sergeant Fowle informed Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court this morning that they took four wooden doors from 58 and 62 Staunton Street.

A detective went to a lane at the back of 34 Bridges Street, and there saw the defendants in the act of sawing up the doors.

First defendant, who had two previous convictions, was sent to prison for two months, while the second was bound over.

THE PALESTINE SITUATION

BRITISH PLANES DISPERSE RIOTERS

Jerusalem, Nov. 3.

British airplanes zoomed down threateningly to disperse hundreds of Arabs enroute to Jerusalem to protest against Great Britain's Jewish policy in Palestine.

The R.M.S. Empress of Russia is due at Shanghai to-day at 3 p.m. and leaves for Hongkong to-morrow at 7 a.m.

H.M.S. Wild Swan sails for Shanghai on Friday, and H.M.S. Medway and Small Ships are due in the Colony from the north on Thursday.

VIOLENCE IN MIDDLE WEST

FARM STRIKE REVIVED AND MORE INTENSE

TWO MILLIONS AFFECTED

Dos Moines, Nov. 5.

Two million farmers in more than half the States of the Union are involved in the renewed farm strike in the Middle West.

The revival of strike agitation for prices showing a fair profit has swept through the agricultural States following indication of President Roosevelt's opposition to deliberate price-fixing for farm produce.

In their present mood, it is stated, such price-fixing is the only thing that will satisfy the farmers.

EVERY WEAPON.

The Iowa strike-leader has ordered the farmers "to use every weapon" to achieve their objective.

Farm skirmishes, bombing and shooting and the demolition of cheese factories, have been features of the strike so far, and there is grave reason to fear that the violence may become more serious.

COMPROMISE SOUGHT.

Meanwhile, Mr. Wallace, the Secretary of the Agriculture Department, and the Governors of the Farm States are drafting a new formula, embodying parity prices, a quota system and United States purchases of surpluses.—Reuter.

LABOUR PARTY AND INDIA

VIOLENCE CONDEMNED BY MR. LANSBURY

Mr. George Lansbury, at the Labour Party Conference, took the opportunity to-day to condemn violence in India.

The occasion was a resolution demanding self-determination and self-government for India.

Before Mr. Lansbury spoke there had been one or two violent speeches.

Mr. R. Sorenson, of West Ham, declared that British rule in India was really "Hitlerism."

When this argument was repeated by Miss Monica Whately, several members of the Conference called out, "No, no, no." Then Mr. Lansbury rose. They all deplored, he stated, all the causes that drove people to violence.

"I think I would not be doing my duty," he continued, "if I did not say that everyone of us deplores any resort to assassination under any conditions prevailing. Every assassination that takes place injures, not the Government, but the cause which the men who do it think they are serving."

MR. HENDERSON'S POSITION.

There was a discussion on a resolution demanding the conclusion of a permanent trade agreement with Russia—"with adequate credit facilities."

This was marked by one or two speeches of the real Communist flavour.

Mr. R. C. Wallhead, M.P., declared that the "wretched thing from Ottawa" was standing in the way of concluding a trade agreement now.

The resolution was carried.

The Miners' Federation were given an opportunity to ventilate their wages grievances.

Mr. Griffiths moved a resolution demanding a new Minimum Wage Act to provide for wages not less than those paid in 1914, plus the increase in the cost of living.

He made a pointed reference to Mr. Greenwood's declaration earlier in the week, in favour of securing the maximum of Socialism in the minimum of time and asked the platform what they proposed to do for the workers while they were transforming the capitalist system—an awkward question, to which there was no reply.

A resolution was passed ordering the Executive to institute a retiring age for all the paid staff of the Labour Party, with a superannuation scheme.

This resolution is aimed primarily at Mr. Arthur Henderson. After what happened in private session the other day, it may mean his early retirement.

It is the predecessor of the new six-channel transmitting and receiving equipment which Post Office engineers are building for the Cardiff-Weston-super-Mare wireless telephone link, and ultimately for the replacement of many of the telephone and telegraph cables across the English Channel.

Out in the Bristol Channel, in a line with Weston-super-Mare, is the island of Flatholm, between which and another point near Cardiff Marchese Marconi carried out his first practical wireless tests 37 years ago.

The total power required for transmission is only that of an average domestic electric lamp, and eleven valves of standard commercial or Post Office types suffice for both transmission and reception.

Hutton, the station on the lower slopes of Bleaton Hill, near Weston-super-Mare, is within sight of the Welsh transmitter, and the guardian of the huts stated that by the use of mirrors he and his colleague could tell in what part of their respective properties the other was standing.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Garbed in outlandish wigs, plumed hats, and costumes of the Robin Hood era, Laurel and Hardy make their latest appearance in "Fra Diavolo," a full-length production in which the comedians are even as a pair of daring brigands whose adventures must certainly be the funniest in which these intimitable wits have yet been seen on the talking screen.

In their current picture now playing at the Queen's Theatre, they run the gamut of tomfoolery from flirting with milkmaids and being pursued by an unexpected king to making a narrow escape from the hangman's noose and being engulfed in a variety of hazardous occurrences out of all of which they invariably come out on top slightly bruised but smiling.

However, as the millions of their followers have long since come to know, it is never the plot which makes Laurel and Hardy comedy. These two bunglers could squeeze laughs out of direct tragedies. The bulky and always slightly annoyed Hardy has but to raise his eyebrows at his partner's irreproachable actions, and you have enough humour to make up a dozen comedies.

There is considerably more to "Fra Diavolo" than humour, although of course the antics of its two clowns play an outstanding part in the production. For one thing there is the presence of Dennis King in the cast, hero of innumerable New York short hits, whose portrayal of the bumbling, Diavolo, does not prevent him from singing several songs of definite asset to the picture. Then there is also the dashing Thelma Todd as the flirtatious Lady Pamela for whose flirtatious Laurel and Hardy fall all over themselves.

"Sweepings"

Typical of Lionel Barrymore is an incident which occurred during the production of "Sweepings," showing at the King's Theatre, in which he is starred.

Barrymore phoned director John Cromwell.

"Can't work! Got terrific cramp!" he grumbled.

Nevertheless, half an hour later he was on the set. He refused to go home.

"Won't do it! Cost studio $6,000 if I lay off!"

He worked all day! But, between scenes, how he grumbled over that scene! He called it his $6,000.00 misery.

Barrymore's estimate of what his absence would have cost was conservative. That day a department store bargain rate rush was being staged. Hundreds of extras, drawing from $7 to $16 per day, were on the set when the star phoned and would have had to be paid, whether they worked or not.

In addition there would have been an extra day's pay for the featured players and an extra day's rental for the thousands of items of apparel used, for the set was stocked like a real department store.

"Sweepings" is the story of the founding and growth of a great American mercantile dynasty, together with the scandals of the

 Solution in next issue. 11

Solution to Previous Contract Problem

West can hardly be criticized for doubling a five diamond contract on the following problem hand. However Mr. John Rau, youngest player ever to win a national championship, was successful in making the contract.

The Bidding

South bid one heart. West passed and North bid two diamonds. South bid three no trump and South bid four clubs. North bid four diamonds and South went to five diamonds. West doubled and Mr. Rau in the North doubled.

The Play

The opening lead was the queen of spades, which Mr. Rau won with the ace. He immediately led the queen of clubs and followed with the five of clubs, whirling in dummy with the jack.

The ace of clubs was played and West trumped with the deuce of diamonds. North over-trumped with the three of diamonds and then led the five of spades, trumping in dummy with the ten of diamonds.

The king of clubs was then led and this time West trumped with the nine of diamonds. Mr. Rau in the North over-trumped with the ace of diamonds and then led the five of diamonds which West won with the king. West returned a spade, North winning with the king and then leading the eight of diamonds which West won with the jack.

West returned another spade which Mr. Rau in the North trumped with the six of diamonds, after which he led the seven spot.

ty Rax", which comes to the King's Theatre on Wednesday. The film is said to afford McLaglen the most comical role of his career, far surpassing "The Cock-Eyed World" and "What Price Glory?" in its farcical possibilities.

Greta Nissen, who has the role of a platinum blonde sweetie in "Racketty Rax", shares honours in the comedy scenes with Nell O'Day, from the musical comedy stage. Marjorie Beebe as a racketeer's battling wife, and Esther Howard as a "fixer-indy" or muscle-inne's go-between, both have parts which are reported as having plenty of opportunity for laughter.

The comedies in "Racketty Rax" are Arthur Pierson as a sporting page press-agent; Allen Dinehart, as a scheming college professor and underworld lawyer-fix; Allen Jenkins; Vince Barnett, Hollywood's cleverest "ribber"; Stanley Fields, Ivan Linow, Ward and John Keyes, the latter in real life "The Mayor of Chinatown" in New York.

INTERPORT MAY START TO-MORROW

IF THE WEATHER
CLEAR'S UP

UNITED SERVICES
GAME DOUBTFUL

With the continuation of this morning's rain all hopes of the Interport cricket match between Hongkong and Malaya making a start to-day disappeared.

Although there does not seem to be much prospect of the weather clearing up, it is hoped to make a start to-morrow. If play is not possible, and if the game commences on Wednesday, the Hongkong players will have a stretch of four days' cricket, as the match against Shanghai has been scheduled to begin on Saturday, November 11.

THE UMPIRES.

In this event, the Malaya-United Services match, which is billed for Friday, will probably have to be abandoned unless a date can be found to fit in later.

Accompanying the Malayan team is Mr. W. W. Dean, who will be acting in the capacity of umpire in both their matches. Mr. P. E. Baskett will be officiating for Hongkong.

The Shanghai players are due here on Friday morning.

R. N. Hamilton told a Telegraph representative that the Malayan team would consist of the following:

R. N. Hamilton (Capt.), V. Croome, W. O. Jonklaas, G. Willis, D. C. Burn, R. G. Gibson, R. Morgan, L. Alvis, Eu Cheow-tak, B. S. Gill and C. A. Spedewind. 12th man: R. B. Lewis.

MANUEL QUEZON IN HONGKONG

INDEPENDENCE MISSION

ON WAY TO THE UNITED STATES

The Hon. Manuel L. Quezon, President of the Philippine Senate, arrived in the Colony this morning aboard the President Hoover and will sail with her to the United States. He is heading the advance guard of the latest and probably "last" legislative delegation from Manila in quest of Philippine independence.

Mr. Quezon, before leaving Manila, was hardly able to take a respite from the series of conferences and farewell dinners and parties in his honour for nearly a week and appeared much the worse for it. He was looking in poor health when interviewed for a brief moment to-day.

LAST CONFERENCE.

His last meeting in Manila was a prolonged conference late on Friday night at his Pasya residence with all the Philippine members of the cabinet including some of the under secretaries. What was discussed in this conference was not revealed but it was believed it dealt with government and administrative matters.

Mr. Quezon's party includes Senator Elpidio Quirino, majority floor leader; Vicente Sinagron Encarnacion, acting secretary of finance; Isaura Gabaldon, Mr. and Mrs. Jose P. Melencio; Jose de Jesus, secretary to Mr. Quezon, Severiano Concepcion, secretary to Mr. Gabaldon and Sergio Mition, valet to Mr. Quezon.

SHAKE-UP IN ITALY

GENERAL BALBO
TO RESIGN

STRONG RUMOURS PERSIST

Rome, Nov. 5. Strong rumours are in circulation that the King will to-morrow accept the resignation of General Balbo, the Minister for Air.

It has, however, been impossible to obtain confirmation of the rumour which has been gaining strength daily, despite one official statement that it is merely a repetition of a rumour circulated some time ago.

It is, however, firmly believed in normally well-informed quarters that a Cabinet shake-up is to be expected shortly.

It is said that Signor Mussolini intends to combine the War Office, Air Minister and Naval Department into a Ministry of National Defence, combining the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, and that Signor Mussolini will himself take charge of the Ministry.

This would necessitate the resignation of Admiral Sirbaudi, of the Navy Office, as well as General Balbo.—Reuter.

Dr. R. A. de Castro Basto, M.D., D.O.M.S., the well-known Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat specialist, accompanied by Madame Basto, returned to the Colony on Saturday by the M.V. Conte Verde.
